RUMOURED TERMS OF JAPAN'S PEACE OFFER.

WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS AND ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE.

LORD CECIL CRITICISED.

London, Feb. 29. Both the Morning Post and the Daily Telegraph, in leading articles to-day, condemn Lord Cecil's attitude regarding the Shanghai crisis, as exhibited by him and his co-signatories in his letter to the Times, to which leading Japanese papers replied.

They also condemn the speech he made on Saturday when he called for the League, backed by the United States, formally to demand an armistice and the establishment of a neutral zone.

IF JAPAN IS WRONG—

The Morning Post says: "In the name of peace and sanity we protest against these threats and pre-judgments."

If Japan is really wrong, declares the journal, the first step should be to drive her out and restore the regions lost to China. If China is right, the other Powers are no more entitled to neutralise than Japan is to invade her territory.

The journal observes that Lord Cecil forgets all about the anarchy, the outrages, the robberies and the lawlessness which have forced, not only Japan, but other Powers to use strong measures.

Japan's defence is their defence.

THE PEACE TERMS.

The Daily Telegraph says that if the rumoured Japanese peace terms, providing for the withdrawal of troops under a Supervisory Committee and the co-operation of a Round Table Conference, are authentic, it hopes that the Nanking Government will close with the offer which they owe primarily to the outstanding valour of their troops and the unreasonableness it has aroused in Tokyo.

The Telegraph adds that events will move to their natural conclusion if mischief-makers in which category Lord Cecil, by his attitude, includes himself, refrain from meddling.—Reuter.

CHINESE BOMB RUSE DISCOVERED.

"WOUNDED" MEN WITH HAND GRENADES.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT).

Shanghai, Feb. 29, 12.10 p.m. I am reliably informed that a number of supposedly wounded Chinese soldiers, admitted to hospitals in the French Concession, upon being searched were found to be in the possession of hand grenades.

Over two hundred of these deadly weapons were found concealed upon them, and it is believed that the men were sent into the International Settlement in order to stage, subsequently, an attack on the Japanese positions from the rear, making their entrance into the Hongkew area from the Settlement.

Most of the wounded men found to be armed were at the Aurora Hospital in Frenchtown.

CHINESE BUYING AIRSHIP.

"THE U. S. N. "LOS ANGELES."

"FOOD-CARRYING PURPOSES."

New York, Feb. 28.

Chinese in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba are contributing funds for the purchase of the United States dirigible, Los Angeles, "for the purpose of carrying food for the flood victims in the interior of China."

Members of the Faculty of Cornell University have addressed a petition to President Hoover asking him to place an embargo on the export of arms and ammunition to China and Japan.

The Faculty of the John Hopkins University at Baltimore, supported by four thousand five hundred professional men and business leaders, have petitioned President Hoover to signify their support of any economic measure to restore peace in the Far East.

POWERS STILL IGNORED.

MORE TROOPS LANDED IN SETTLEMENT.

Shanghai, Feb. 29, 8.50 a.m. Another Japanese transport arrived in Shanghai this morning, going alongside the Wayside Wharf, in the International Settlement.—Reuter.

EINSTEIN URGES BOYCOTT.

APPEAL TO UNITED STATES.

Pasadena, Feb. 28. Professor Albert Einstein today broadcast an appeal throughout the United States urging an economic boycott to force Japan to cease hostilities against China.—Reuter.

LYTTON INQUIRY COMMISSION.

ARRIVAL IN TOKYO ANNOUNCED.

Tokyo, Feb. 29. The League of Nations Commission of Inquiry in Manchuria, headed by Lord Lytton, arrived in Tokyo to-day.—Reuter.

WAR ON CHAPEL FRONT.

JAPANESE OPEN OFFENSIVE.

NORTH STATION OBJECTION.

(Our Own Correspondent).

Shanghai, Feb. 29, 11.53 a.m. The quiet which reigned in Chapel all day yesterday was disturbed early this morning when the furious rat-tat-tat of machine-gun indicated that the rival forces were at close grips.

Later observation revealed that the Japanese forces had launched an offensive in the region of the North Station and that the Chinese were slowly giving ground, while fighting every inch of the way.

Aeroplane were up this morning heavily bombing the Chinese positions in the region of the Commercial Press ruins, and when they had completed their deadly work the attack began. Street fighting is still going on, heavy rifle and machine-gun fire sounding from the North Station area.

The fighting is confined for the moment to this area and light artillery on both sides are freely exchanging fire.

TANKS IN ACTION.

Shanghai, Feb. 29, 11.30 a.m. With aeroplanes dropping high explosive bombs and artillery firing shell after shell, Japanese tanks and infantry launched a general offensive against the Chinese positions in Chapel at 9.30 a.m. in a determined effort to break through the Chinese lines.

The incessant rattle of machine guns and the thunder of artillery disturb the comparative peace of the Settlement which is bathed in bright sunshine.

Although subject to an intensive bombardment with aerial bombs and shells exploding in their midst, the Chinese troops are valiantly holding out and replying to the Japanese fire with trench mortars and machine-guns.

SUPERB DARING.

In addition, a few of the braver spirits, regardless of almost certain death are running into the open and throwing hand grenades at the oncoming tanks. Very fierce fighting is proceeding.—Reuter.

NEW MANCHURIA GOVERNMENT.

HEADQUARTERS AT CHANGCHUN.

S.M.R. CONTRACT FOR ERECTION.

Mukden, Feb. 28. It is reported that the South Manchurian Railway Company have signed a contract with the new Manchurian Government for the erection of new Government buildings at Changchun.

The seat of the new administration will cost $20,000,000 to build and one third of the amount has been paid.—Reuter.

DOLLAR STILL UNCHANGED.

SLIGHT SILVER RISE REPORTED.

The Hongkong dollar remains unchanged to-day, with the market lifeless, waiting on developments in the North.

Silver was up 1/16th in London, both spot and forward. China and the Continent were small buyers, with the market quiet. New York reports a rise of 1/8th on a quiet market.

AMERICA OPPOSES BOYCOTT.

HOPEFUL DISCUSSIONS AT GENEVA.

STRENUOUS EFFORTS are being made to take advantage of the comparative quiet which has settled down upon the Shanghai front and secure a permanent cessation of hostilities, great hopes having been encouraged by the Japanese communication to the League, the details of which have not been disclosed.

STRONG HOPES IN EUROPE.

LEAGUE COUNCIL MEETING.

Geneva, Feb. 29. The closest secrecy is being observed regarding the contents of the Japanese communication to the League.

It is understood that a private exchange of views took place yesterday afternoon between members of the Council and that it will be followed to-day (Monday) by a special meeting of the Council of Twelve, including M. Tardieu, the French Premier, who is expected from Paris.

In the meantime, communications with the Far East are proceeding and there are good grounds for believing that the present situation holds out real prospects of a settlement.

Mr. Matsudaira, the Japanese Ambassador in London, interviewed Sir John Simon last evening.—Reuter.

DEFINITE PEACE PROPOSALS.

SIR M. LAMPSON'S EFFORTS.

Nanking, Feb. 29, 10.40 a.m. According to information given out officially to-day, Great Britain, France and the United States are working busily for the cessation of hostilities in Shanghai, which they hope to secure before the meeting of the League Assembly on Thursday.

Sir Miles Lampson returned to Nanking yesterday, M. Wilden, the French Minister is due to-day, and Mr. Nelson Johnson, the American Minister is expected in the near future.

NANKING INTERVIEW.

Chinese reports declare that Sir Miles Lampson conferred with Mr. Lo Wen-kun, presenting definite proposals for a cessation of hostilities and the creation of a neutral zone.

An extraordinary meeting of the Government's Foreign Relations Committee decided that if the Powers are able to induce Japan to cease aggressive action in China, then the Chinese Government will be in a position to discuss peace proposals.

The motive emphasised that the action of the Chinese troops at Shanghai was purely in self-defence.—Reuter.

AMERICA AGAINST BOYCOTT.

ATTITUDE TO TRUCE PROPOSALS.

Washington, Feb. 29. The Government has announced, prior to the meeting of the League Assembly, that it is strongly opposed to a boycott of Japan.

Apparently the Government is not completely agreed upon the issue, as it is added that President Hoover and other members of the Government and legislators are "almost" unanimously opposed to the boycott.

American observers in Europe have also advised the State Department that the major Powers are agreed in the United States attitude.

RECOGNITION POINT.

As regards the new Japanese truce offer, it is authoritatively emphasised that the United States will decline to recognise any Japanese gains, either in Shanghai or Manchuria, obtained by violation of existing treaties.

High officials point out that a boycott of Japan might easily lead to war and lead to the closing of various industries in all countries concerned.

WAR ON CIVILIANS.

It would be tantamount to war upon civilians and this would generate bitterness, leading to violence against the citizens of the boycotting countries residing in the boycotted countries and vice versa.

International violence might result from the responsibility of all nations to protect their nationals. It is learned that President Hoover directed Mr. Stimson to despatch his Note to Japan of January 7, and also that the European Powers were doubtful whether they could take such action.—Reuter.

ment will be in a position to discuss peace proposals.

The motive emphasised that the action of the Chinese troops at Shanghai was purely in self-defence.—Reuter.

TARIFF EVADERS IN RACE AGAINST TIME.

DOCKS WORK 24 HOURS A DAY.

ONLY CUSTOMS UNHURRIED.

(Reuter's Special Service).

London, Feb. 28. Not since the Spanish Armada has such a fleet of ships raced towards the British Isles as is now peacefully invading our ports from the seven seas.

Over two hundred steamers are engaged in the race against time, before the Free Trade era ends in Britain on Monday night.

The docks in London are now choked with vessels and besides hundreds of men expert in the quick handling of cargoes, hundreds of casual labourers are working night and day by the aid of arc-lamps on the dock-sides.

The wages bills is tremendous but shippers are finding it much cheaper than the ten per cent. duty.

The only people at the dock-side who are not flustered or hurrying are the Customs officers, who close their sheds at the usual hour despite the queue of would-be tariff invaders.

HONGKONG LEGAL CHANGES.

MR. FITZROY LEAVING GOVT. SERVICE.

Mr. H. Somerset Fitzroy, Public Prosecutor and Assistant Attorney General, severs his connexion with the Hongkong Government as from to-day and, according to his present plans, he will go into private practice again. The office which he vacates will be filled by Mr. R. E. Lindsay, Acting Puisne Judge, who is being relieved by Mr. Justice Wood.

Arriving in Hongkong in the middle of 1924, Mr. Fitzroy was admitted to practice as a Barrister-at-Law in Hongkong in July, but in April, 1927, he was given the newly-created post of Public Prosecutor, with his office at Police Headquarters.

Mr. Fitzroy was called to the Bar in January, 1910, and practised until the outbreak of the War, when he served on the Admiralty War Staff in the Intelligence Division and later as Military Control Officer. Subsequently he acted as British Vice-Consul at New York.

The speaker at the Rotary Club meeting to-morrow (Tuesday) will be Dr. S.F. Li, whose subject will be "The Prevention of Tuberculosis."

SOVIET NOT QUITE SATISFIED.

RUSSO-JAPANESE TENSION.

More Explanations Sought.

USE OF C.E.R.

Moscow, Feb. 28. Details of the Japanese reply to M. Karakhan's questionnaire were disclosed by the official Tass Agency to-day.

Mr. Hirota's reply took the form of a statement prepared in Tokyo and cabled to Moscow, for subsequent presentation to M. Karakhan.

The Japanese Government declares that it has no knowledge of the proposal that the Japanese Command at Harbin should sign a contract for the transportation of Japanese forces on the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The Government is at present inquiring of the Japanese authorities in Manchuria concerning the activity of the White Guards and the formation of the new independent State.

PROTECTION ONLY.

The Japanese statement emphasises that the only object in the despatch of troops to the east of Harbin is to protect Japanese subjects and the Government requests the Soviet's permission to transport troops to Imienpo and Hallin, at the utmost as they do not intend sending troops to the Soviet frontier.

Finally, the statement asks the Soviet Government to feel confident that the Japanese forces will not violate the interests and the U.S.S.R. on the Chinese Eastern Railway.

SOVIET AGREES.

M. Karakhan has replied that in view of the special circumstances and particularly as the Chinese authorities in Manchuria and the Chinese section of the Chinese Eastern Railway Board had applied for permission to transport Japanese troops, the Soviet Government agrees to permit a limited number of Japanese troops to travel by the C.E.R. from Harbin to Imienpo or Hallin, on condition that the Japanese Government gives the assurance that the rights and interests of the U.S.S.R. will not be violated.

TREATY VIOLATION.

M. Karakhan then questioned Mr. Hirota on two points affecting the Portsmouth Treaty, which the Japanese Ambassador promised to wire Tokyo immediately. The first point suggests that the utilisation of the Chinese Eastern Railway for strategic purposes violates Article Seven of the Treaty, and the Soviet Government asks for assurances on this point.

Second, the Soviet Government declares that it has verified information reaching Moscow that Japanese troops are massing near the Soviet-Korean border, which is in contradiction to Article Two of the Treaty, and in connexion with which, the Soviet desires an explanation.—Reuter.

POPE AND WAR IN FAR EAST.

RADIO BROADCAST MESSAGE.

Vatican City, Feb. 28. At the conclusion of a wireless broadcast message on the occasion of the reading of the virtues of the missionary, Sister Assunta Gallotta, who died in China in 1905, His Holiness the Pope gave a blessing "to those two great peoples of the East upon whom the attention of the world is at present fixed."

The Pope attributed the troubles in the Far East to the "war of races."

VICTORIA DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING ON FRIDAY OF THIS WEEK.

The Annual general meeting of the Victoria Diocesan and Missionary Association, Hongkong, will be held at the Cathedral Hall on Friday, March 4, at 5.15 p.m. It is earnestly hoped that all members will make a point of being present.

The Agenda follows:
1. Opening Prayer.
2. Presentation of Statement of Accounts for 1931 for adoption (Copy herewith printed with Annual Report).
3. Adoption of Budget for 1932 (Copy herewith printed with Annual Report).
4. Adoption of Annual Report (Copy herewith).
5. Election of Officers:—Vice Chairman, Hon. Treasurer, Hon. Secretary, Secretary for Hospital Supplies, Secretary for V. D. A. London Sales, Secretary for Xmas Gifts Fund, Outposts Secretary, Auditor.
(b) Election of Group Representatives to Executive Committee.
6. Chairman's remarks.
7. Address by the Rev. C. L. Blanchett on "The value of the V. D. M. A. in the Life of the Diocese."

Annual Report.
Membership. The V. D. M. A. has a membership of 311 an increase of 72 on the figures shown in the last Report and made up as follows:

Cathedral Group	167
St. Andrew's Kowloon Group	60
St. Peter's Group	20
Chinese Church Group	41
Outposts Group	23

The Executive Committee met on February 13th, March 27th and October 2nd. At the meeting in March the following resolution was carried: "This Committee is of the opinion that the best means of making books in the Diocesan Library more readily accessible is for the book to be divided and placed in the Cathedral and St. Andrew's Church respectively for general use."

This method will involve an interchange of books half yearly and it is agreed that such an experiment be made for a year in the first instance, as from the Annual Meeting.

There is no doubt that the experiment has more than justified itself. "At Home." An "At Home" was held in the Helena Hall on April 20 when Miss F. C. Woo, M.B.E. spoke on her experiences in America where she collected $150,000 to help clear off the debt on St. Paul's Girls' College new building.

Diocesan and Missionary Sunday. These were observed at the Cathedral on August 22nd and November 22nd, when the special prayers were the Rev. G. K. Carpenter and the Bishop respectively. Special services of intercession for work in the Diocese were also held in the Cathedral at Evening on June 24th and October 28th.

China Exhibition.—The outstanding event of the year was the holding of the China Exhibition in the City Hall on November 5th, 6th and 7th. The V. D. M. A. was responsible for initiating the Exhibition and desires to place on record its appreciation of the splendid work done by the representative committee which had the matter in hand and brought it to such a successful issue. Full accounts of the Exhibition have appeared elsewhere and a full statement of accounts has been printed in the February Outpost Supplement. The presence of the Information Bureau and the V.D.M.A. Staff at the Exhibition undoubtedly helped to stimulate interest in the Association.

General.—Groups have little to report except that each one shows a decided improvement in membership. Miss McGill who was Group Secretary for St. Andrew's resigned in December on leaving the Colony after a long period of energetic service for the V.D.M.A.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The Peace Army—A Local Movement.

[To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir,—The news of the proposed Peace Army, initiated by Miss Maude Royden and others comes as not an extravagant, ridiculous, reckless and insane move to free the world from the bondage of that civilised barbarian, War, but a direct, inescapable and mighty challenge to all men and women who profess to love peace or have as their Saviour, Jesus Christ.

The present situation in Shanghai witnesses not only the utter bankruptcy of statesmanship, the complete breakdown of all legal international machinery for the outlawry of war, but is the crucial test for the peace forces of the world.

The great hope for the restoration of peace lies in those concentrated workers for peace around the world, whose only "vested interest" is love for human values, whose only "strategy" is sincerity and a fearless pursuit of Truth and who will offer their lives, if need be, on the Altar of Peace by participating in a movement such as the peace army.

Persons in Hongkong interested or willing to join in a peace movement that will link itself immediately to Miss Royden's Peace Army and take effective steps in conjunction with it for the restoration of peace, will please send their names to Mr. G. B. Halstead. Kindly watch the daily papers for further news of the Hongkong and Kowloon Peace Movement, announcements of meetings, etc.

G. B. HALSTEAD.

Her place has been taken by Mrs. R. Baldwin.

The Working Party for Hospital Supplies has met regularly and despatched cases of needs to the hospitals in the Diocese. Mrs. Lang who rendered valuable service as Hon. Secretary resigned in the autumn on leaving for England, and Mrs. Finnigan has kindly undertaken the Secretaryship of the Hospital Supplies Fund whilst Mrs. N. L. Smith generously gave her time in administering the Xmas Gifts Fund.

The V.D.A. London Sales Fund was again in the efficient hands of Mrs. Roffey who was also responsible for the successful V.D.M. A. Stall at the China Exhibition.

Hon. Treasurer's Report.
The two main features of the year were firstly the low value of the Hongkong dollar, causing the London grant to yield the substantial sum of $5,079.37 and secondly the donations which totalled $1,946.03—largely due to the "China" Exhibition and the M. C. L. The former gift will not recur this year, but we hope we may look to the M. C. L. for regular support.

The quotas show a small decrease—due mainly to the separation of St. Andrew's subscriptions, which were formerly included in their quota.

This year they have been included under the head to subscriptions, and combined with an increase in the membership, this heading shows a substantial increase.

The total amount paid by the St. Andrew's group including subscriptions was $1,300.00.

Grants.—There was a saving under the vote for the Bishop's secretary, which was applied towards special grants voted in October when it was known how much would be available. The additional grants voted amounted to $1,574.32. The grants paid during the year, including "special votes" totalled $8,260.76.

Expenses are rather higher than usual owing to certain accounts relating to 1930 not having come to hand until after the books for that year had been closed.

Reserve.—In view of the windfall, caused by the London vote being remitted at an unexpectedly low rate of exchange, your committee approved the placing of $1,000.00 to reserve in addition to the usual sum of $250.00.

SMUGGLING SEQUEL.

CONFISCATION OF LAUNCH ORDERED BY COURT.

In connexion with the case in which Chan Kam-shing, coxswain of the steamer launch Wah Shing Ton, was convicted of unlawfully allowing his launch to be used for smuggling 650 tins of opium, Mr. F. X. d'Almada, Sr., appeared before Mr. Fraser at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday morning to apply for rescission of the confiscation order.

Mr. T. M. Hazlerigg was for the Crown.

It will be recalled that the defendant Chan Kam-shing was originally charged, together with the Chief Engineer, with unlawful possession of the contraband, which was hidden under the stern of the launch. The Chief Engineer was discharged, but the coxswain was convicted and sentenced to 12 months' hard labour. Mr. d'Almada applied for a rehearing of the case, which was granted, and at the rehearing, the charge was amended to one of unlawfully allowing his launch, the Wah Shing Ton, to be used for an unlawful purpose. On this charge, the coxswain was convicted and re-sentenced to 12 months' hard labour.

Competency Not Challenged.

In making his application on Saturday Mr. d'Almada said he was not disputing the competency of the Court to order confiscation. He admitted that the Court had full power to order confiscation, but he would attempt to show his Worship why a confiscation order should not be made in this case. He submitted that on the evidence given in the case, the owners of the launch, the Yuen Yuen Company, for whom Mr. d'Almada was appearing, could not be held responsible for the acts of any member of the crew employed by the charterers of the launch. The Wah Shing Ton was under charter to another company, and one of the conditions of the charter party was that the Wah Shing Ton was not even allowed to tow any vessels known to be carrying contraband. He submitted that the owners could not be held responsible.

Another point Mr. d'Almada said he would like to bring out was that, in convicting the coxswain, his Worship said the defendant must have known that there was contraband on board. His Worship remarked then on the fact that the Chief Engineer had told the defendant that should a Police launch sighted, he (Chief Engineer) was to be warned. Mr. d'Almada pointed out that the coxswain did not do anything of the sort on sighting Revenue Officer Humphreys' launch. That showed he might have suspected there were contraband goods on the launch, but he did not know definitely. That was a point in his favour and therefore a point in favour of the Yuen Yuen Company.

Mr. d'Almada then quoted authorities in connexion with the confiscation of vessels, pointing out that only rarely was a ship forfeited unless it was a habitual offender, or if a responsible officer of the ship was chiefly to blame.

Crown Submission.

On behalf of the Crown, Mr. Hazlerigg pointed out to his Worship that the authority quoted by Mr. d'Almada made it quite clear that "rarely was a ship forfeited unless it was a habitual offender or if a responsible officer was chiefly to blame." Evidence had been given in the case that the Chief Engineer was the prime mover in the smuggling, and asked Mr. Hazlerigg, was not the Chief Engineer of a vessel a responsible officer?

Going on, Mr. Hazlerigg said Mr. d'Almada's argument was that the owners of the launch could not be held responsible for the reason that the launch had been chartered to another concern. If this argument held good, shipowners could defy the Crown through the simple subterfuge of chartering their vessels to another company. By this means, they could do anything without the Crown being able to do anything to prevent them. In his opinion, the owners of the Wah Shing Ton deliberately relinquished control of the ship, knowing that it was open to seizure under certain circumstances. By their charter of the launch to another company, lock, stock and barrel, the Yuen Yuen Company were running into risks with their eyes open and had to face the consequences.

His Worship decided in favour of the Crown and confirmed the forfeiture of the Wah Shing Ton.

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONGKONG.

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was—"God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved." (John 3: 17.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible, "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds: Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged out our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high." (Hebrews 1: 1-3.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy—"Christ is the true idea voicing good, the divine message from God to men speaking to the human consciousness. The Christ is incorporeal, spiritual,—yes, the divine image and likeness, dispelling the illusions of the senses; the Way, the Truth, and the Life, healing the sick and casting out evils, destroying sin, disease and death. As Paul says, 'There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus.' (p. 332.)

It wasn't a jug of wine, as in Omar Khayyam's famous "Rubaiyat," that accompanied this loaf of bread. Instead, it was a bottle of brandy—one of a number of bottles cleverly hidden inside loaves of bread received at the Philadelphia post office. A lucky loaf furnished the "tip-off" to the illicit shipment.

But it was a devastating blow to the White Russian "army" when General Koutepoff (upper left), its guiding genius, was mysteriously kidnapped in Paris three years ago, and murdered.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE by KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

ANNE, CECILY and MARY-FRANCES Fenwick live with their grandparents, once wealthy, now no longer so. Anne and Cecily are excited about the arrival of a stock company actor known as EARL DE ARMOUNT. They meet him on the street, and he speaks to them. Mary-Frances is thrilled, agrees to meet him that night after the performance, she tells him she is 18, falls in love, the cheapness of his love-making and after that first meeting promises to see him again. Next morning Phil telephones Anne he is coming to take her down town in his car.

CHAPTER XVII

Almost at once, before he had turned the car from the tree-lined driveway into the street, Phil said, "Ann, when are we going to be married?"

Ann, still too happy to be bothered, said, "Oh, Phil!" and patted his arm.

"I mean it," he insisted. "When?"

"Oh, Phil," Ann responded, but less happily.

"Ever?"

"Now, dear," she reproached, with no happiness at all.

"Seriously, Ann. I was thinking last night. What are we waiting for? For your grandparents to die?"

"How can you!" Ann protested. "That is a terrible thing to say."

"Not at all. We all die. Why evade the statement? But with the care Mr. and Mrs. Fenwick take of themselves they may live for 10—20 years yet. You and I are almost 30 years old. Twenty or 10 years from now would make a late beginning for us, wouldn't it?"

"I don't know why you want to act like this, this morning," Ann said, and added, "I was so happy."

"Yes, dear, but don't you see—"

"No. Not this morning. I was so happy."

"Why should facing a fact make you unhappy?"

"I don't know. But it does. Talking about people dying and so on. I'd felt that we were making sort of a fresh start this morning—maybe."

"We are, dear," he told her. "That is what I want to do. I want to make a fresh start toward some definite goal. I want to get out, and get you out of this atmosphere of teeny-weeny, sentimental optimism. I'm sorry if I shocked you, or hurt you by talking about the death of your grandparents. It wasn't necessary for me to say that, because that isn't what we are waiting for. At least, I hope it isn't. Still, there must be a point somewhere that we can place and say, 'When that happens we can marry.' I want to see if we can place that point."

Ann sighed and shook her head a little.

"Suppose," Phil went on, "that we say we are waiting until I can make enough money to contribute the same amount that you are now paying in to the household. That would mean an extra hundred a month, wouldn't it? And that isn't impossible, is it?"

"No," said Ann. "Yes," said Ann.

"Meaning?" he questioned parenthetically.

She evaded. "There's your mother, too."

"What I send to mother is considered as a part of my own present living expenses. I'll have to be sure of enough, over and above my living expenses, to take care of your part of the expenses in your household. When I reach that point, shall we say, we can be married and will be?"

"There'd be two of us then," she said. "Now you have only your own expenses. Besides, it isn't just the money, you know."

"I knew you'd say that. If I had an extra hundred a month right now you wouldn't marry me, would you?"

"You aren't fair, Phil. You just aren't fair. How could I go off and leave Cecily with the entire responsibility of the house and Grand and Rosalie and Mary-Frances? You know as well as I do that the only way in the world Cecily and I manage to keep going at all—to have any good times, or leisure, or to keep our jobs, for that matter—is by taking turns with the work and sharing it and the responsibilities. Suppose Cecily had been alone last winter when Grand was ill? As it is, with the two of us working as hard as we can, things get away ahead of us."

"Just keeping that big house, and getting the meals, and doing the ironing from the wet wash, and everything, is a full-sized job for one person. Cecily couldn't take that all over and keep her office position. She isn't strong enough. No one woman would be. And she is so young. You used to say one reason you loved me was because I had a sense of honour and fairness, but you don't seem to feel that way any more."

"Yes, I do. That's that, then. A hundred isn't sufficient. How much shall we have to add to the hundred to get a competent woman to do the housework?"

"I don't know."

"Fifty dollars? Sixty? Another hundred?"

Ann looked out of the window. "I was so happy," she said.

"Why were you, Ann?"

"I don't know. I can't imagine."

"Because you were being fair to Cecily?"

"You have no right to blame Cecily for everything."

"I'm not blaming Cecily for anything. I'm not really blaming you, either, Ann, for thinking always about being fair to Cecily and never thinking about being fair to me."

"That isn't true."

Phil shrugged. "Isn't it? Well, where were we? An extra hundred a month on top of the first hundred. Two hundred, then, more than I am making now—or the interest on $40,000—and we can be married?"

"I won't talk that way! You—you're loving me, not buying me. And my family isn't looking for some outsider to support them, and we don't want charity."

"Outsider is right," said Phil.

This young man is the great grandson of the octogenarian Count Apponyi, "the grand old man of Hungary."

VOYAGE ROUND THE WORLD.

AN OLD SAILOR'S YEARNING

A sentimental voyage round the world will be started from Southampton shortly.

Mr. George Robbins, of Brixham, and his son, Mr. William Robbins, will set out in the 34-ton ketch Girl Winnie to seek adventure and romance.

The father will be living again the days of his youth; his son will be seeing far corners of the world for the first time.

Somewhere in the South Sea Islands they will join a band of treasure hunters in a search for gold.

As a young man, Mr. George Robbins was a sailor in wind-tamers, but when about to set for his ticket he could not pass the eyesight test. Reluctantly, he gave up the sea and entered business. He prospered and retired.

Round the Cape.

After his wife's death he yearned to return to the sea, so Mr. William Robbins bought the ketch in order that his father might realise his ambitions.

"It's going to be a wonderful trip," Mr. George Robbins said to a reporter recently. "I am going over the seas I sailed as a lad, to meet my last trip, but if I round the Cape once more and perhaps get a glimpse of the Boar's Forties I will die a happy man."

MITCHAM COMMON FOR TROOPS.

WAR OFFICE REQUEST.

A letter from the War Office asking for the use of Mitcham Common to train infantry was before the Mitcham Board of Conservators recently.

"There would never be more than a small number training at one time," said the letter, "and they would cause no inconvenience to normal users of the Common."

Mr. H. Roden urged that the Board should have more details. When the War Office used Surrey Commons, he said, "It took the public all their time to get back their rights."

The Conservators decided to ask for more information.

BEAUTY HINTS.

(By Alice Hart.)

The old slang phrase, "Shake a leg," is an excellent guide to exercises to limber you up.

You must shake your feet first, however. Begin with your toes, standing toes in, leaning more on the outside of your feet than the inside, and stretch your toes about, trying to exercise every one.

If you imagine that you are a child digging your toes into nice wet mud or sand on a beach you will get the idea of how to wriggle your toes. Once you learn how, you can wriggle them inside your shoes during the day as you sit at your desk or ride on a street car or just wait for a friend in a restaurant. This wriggling helps circulation and is especially good for those who have cold feet in winter time, or any other time.

After you have limbered up your toes, stand on one foot and raise the other slightly and begin wriggling the whole foot, from the ankle. Turn it around in circles if you can. At least you can raise it up and push it back and send it part way to first one side, then the other.

Now try relaxing the ankle thoroughly and, still standing like a stork on one foot, shake the other foot by moving the knee on that side. Kick out from the knee and then let the leg fall back. This will move you about a bit until you get used to balancing on one foot. But it is excellent for your whole muscular system.

When you have thoroughly limbered up one leg to the knee, change feet and go through all the motions on the other side. Do both sides a couple of times and see if your feet do not feel much warmer and more alive. Now you need to work on your hips before your whole leg muscles feel totally relaxed.

TO-DAY'S BEAUTY HINT.

Elbows that have become roughened and wrinkled should be washed thoroughly with warm water and a good toilet soap applied with a medium soft nail-brush. Massage a skin food generously into the elbow, until the cream is absorbed by the skin. Pat clean with a soft towel, and apply vanishing cream. Do this two or three times a week before going out, and apply skin food every night.

BLACK and WHITE.

(By Joan Savoy.)

If you get a smart outfit for dressy days now, you can have a grand time seeing how you look in an abbreviated bolero, in a very brief bolero that ties under your chin, with no back or front to speak of—only sleeves—or various kinds of sleeveless topplings that make a fetish of broad-shouldered effects and then let the arms go bare!

Simple, and Yet—

Something very, very smart uses the age-old black-white theme in a startling, new manner.

First, there is a semi-formal little dress of the black velvet, with a twisted belt of black and white, no other touch to relieve its simplicity. As a matter of fact, it is anything but simply cut. It fits admirably, but that is because it is so skillfully concealed.

Over this sits the smartest wrap, a sleeveless little cloak, of the black velvet, ermine outlined, that wraps itself about you. It is cut to be tucked and fitted tight to the waistline, with a perky little silhouette below the waistline where it flares. And plenty of room above the waistline for you to fold your arms and act like a lady going to some very important function.

The Perfect Hat.

The perfect hat for this is one that has a fitted crown of one of the new straws and a brim of starched chiffon.

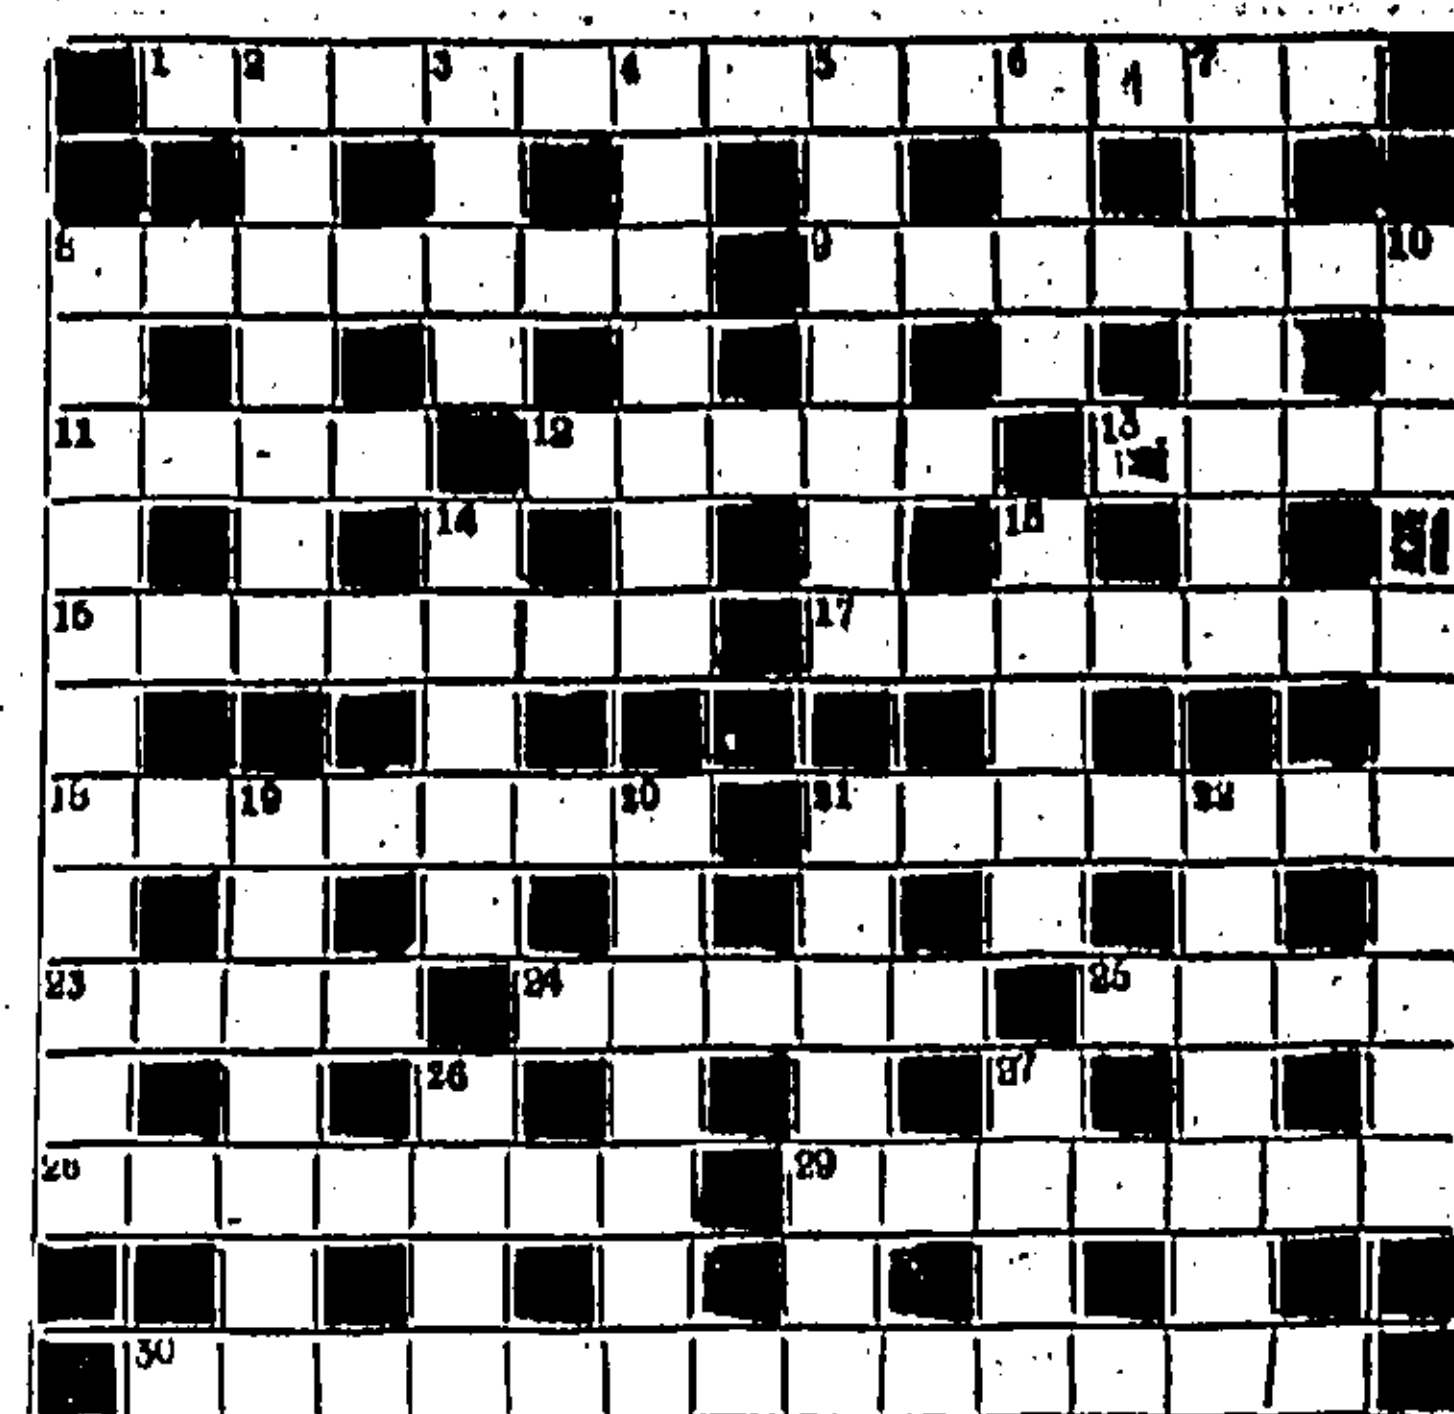

You can look through these brims just as if they were face veils, and they cast precisely the same glamour of enchantment over you that a veil sometimes does.

CHRISTENING SETS.

Christening sets for children may now be obtained in a variety of designs, and some of the most attractive include a small plate, with mug to match, two spoons, and an egg cup, mounted in an attractive box. The plate, mug, and egg cup are of china, decorated with a favourite nursery rhyme design in bright colours, while the mug and the egg cup have silver stands.

TRIAL FOR MURDER.FLOWERS BEHIND THEIR EARS.

Calcutta, Jan. 20.
Gaily dressed in dainty red saris, with flowers behind their ears in the traditional style of Hindu maidens, two 16-year-old Indian High School girls stood on trial to-day for the murder of Mr. C. G. B. Stevens, the district magistrate of Comilla.

The two girls, Miss Santi Ghose and Miss Suniti Chowdhury, smiled as they glanced round the court room and occasionally exchanged jokes.

"We demand chairs, otherwise we shall not take part in the proceedings," the girls declared when the trial opened.

It is alleged that Mr. Stevens was sitting in his bungalow at Comilla when he was approached by the two girls, who asked him to arrange a swimming competition, and that as he was talking to them unsuspectingly, he was shot and fatally wounded in the chest.

Yesterday the girls fasted as a protest against the quality of the prison food, but refused to submit a written petition.

SOME DISARMAMENT
DIFFICULTIES.

Whilst cynics may say there is no progress being made with disarmament, the Conference sitting in Geneva is attempting to achieve something by the appointment of sub-committees charged with investigation of land, sea and air armaments, war budgets, and political questions. It is carrying on its discussions within the framework of the draft Disarmament Convention, full liberty being reserved to all the delegations to develop their own proposals. Those who feel that differences over the methods of limiting armaments indicate that Governments have no real wish to disarm, may possibly be overlooking vital facts. Sincere and intelligent statesmen are labouring earnestly to achieve some measure of disarmament. With them the whole question is not "Shall we disarm?" but "How shall we disarm?" So far they see mere limitation as the only practicable step.

A glance at the problems now being thrashed out at Geneva discloses the difficulties of attaining even that minimum goal. For instance, in measuring land armaments, shall we count men or machines, material or money? Britain seems to favour budgetary limitation. That means that each nation's forces would be judged by the amount it spent on them. Japan and the United States opposed this plan eighteen months ago. They favoured judging by the actual number of men and guns. They pointed out that some countries have conscript armies which cost very little. And the American delegate declared, "It is far easier to conceal the application of a dollar than it is the existence of a rifle." On the other hand, representatives of other nations have argued that one man may be far better trained, one gun far more efficient, than another, so that a mere enumeration of men and materials without regard to what has been spent gives no true idea of strength. It would be a mere measurement of quantity, entirely ignoring variations in quality. There, briefly, is one dilemma. As one way out of it, the proposal has been made that the budgetary yardstick should be applied by each nation as against its own previous expenditures, not in comparison with the appropriations of any other country. Even this plan would depend somewhat for fairness upon when it was applied, and whether one nation had already built up its forces while another of equal rank needed to increase its strength to attain parity. Measuring land forces is even more difficult than balancing tons and guns on the sea. Varieties and variations in materials are legion. Opportunities for concealment are great. Indeed, it seems almost a hopeless task. But hope should not be lost. The fact, however, must be faced that "disarmament" needs to be disarmed of its false hopes. To-day it usually means limitation of arms and except for the three navies bound by the London Naval Treaty, it does not even mean that. But recognition of the distance still to go on the road to disarmament should help to speed our footsteps. What is needed is better understanding of the problem by citizens of all countries, and intelligent insistence by them that their Governments push on toward the goal.

THE JESUITS IN
NEW LIGHT ON THEIR EXPULSION.

By ARTHUR F. LOVEDAY.

However justifiable or unjustifiable the expulsion of the Jesuits from Spain and the confiscation of their properties may be from a political point of view, there can be no doubt that the manner in which the present Government has acted in issuing suddenly a decree, almost brutal in its severity, at a moment of national crisis when the forces of anarchy and revolution are extraordinarily active and evident, has moved profoundly the religious sense and the sense of justice of the Spanish nation.

It would appear that an extreme and revolutionary Government of strong Socialistic or Marxist tendencies has found itself faced with the necessity of taking far more repressive measures against the agents of anarchy and revolution, many of them their former friends, than were dreamed of in the wild days of the dictatorship.

So, in order to appear what is called "impartial," and to sugar the pill of repression for their followers of the extreme left, they have hastily hit the Jesuits, as representatives of the extreme right, a knock-out blow on the head.

"Contradictory Action." It would seem, from a purely political point of view, and setting aside entirely the religious aspect, that the Government have committed a most contradictory action, for they have destroyed one of the most anti-revolutionary elements in the country at a moment when they are themselves fighting revolution, and have definitely lost sight of very large body of the population of Spain who are professing Christians.

At another moment and in a tranquil Spain it would be a logical and an expected action for a Government, holding the tenets and doctrine of the present one to expel the Jesuits and to confiscate their goods; for, notwithstanding the hopes and illusion held in some ultra-Protestant circles abroad, the spirit of the present Government appears definitely as one of persecution, and not of freedom of religion.

The Jesuits, or to call them by their own name, the Company of Jesus, have passed through many vicissitudes varying from the height of political influence and power to persecution, since the time of their foundation by papal bull in 1540, when Ignatius de Loyola laid down the rules and organisation of the order.

General Expulsion. In the course of their history they have at some period or other been expelled from almost every country where they have been established, when their power had appeared to exercise too great an influence on the temporal politics of that country or their wealth excited the cupidity of their opponents.

Their history in Spain has shown the same features as in other countries, and in the year 1767, in the reign of Carlos III, the houses of the order were unexpectedly surrounded by troops and their inmates deported, while a decree was promulgated by the King suppressing the order completely in Spain and all her possessions.

This was followed in 1773 by the dissolution of the Society by Pope Clement XIV. Throughout the period of the French Revolution the society ceased to exist as a recognised religious order until a bull of Pope Pius VII. restored it to its functions.

Since then its history of growth of power and subsequent expulsion has continued to repeat itself in many countries and ultimately in Spain by the recent Government decree of dissolution and confiscation.

Influence of the Order. However one may differ from some of the practices and tenets

LIFT UP YOUR HEARTS, FOR THE WORLD IS MOVING ONWARD. IT IS GUIDED FROM ABOVE, AND GUIDED WE MAY BE SURE WITH WISDOM AND GOODNESS WHICH WILL NOT ABANDON US. THAT IS THE COMFORT WHICH EVEN IN BLACKEST DARKNESS MUST AFFORD LIGHT.—Rosebery.

An amended notification states that the Ben Line s.s. Bendoran, from Home via Straits and Manila, is due here on Thursday morning.

Mrs. Maurice St. J. Walsh sailed by the s.s. Naldara for Home on Saturday.

Following a meeting of the Overseas League in Singapore, it has been decided to hold a British Shopping Week in Malaya. At the end of the week, May 24, which is Empire Day, it is proposed to hold a ball in conjunction with the Overseas League dinner.

Five men, one armed with a revolver and another with a dagger, forced an entry into 128, Woonung Street, Yaumatei, during the early hours of yesterday morning, and, after binding and gagging the inmates, stole property to the value of $125, before decamping.

There were crowded houses at the King's Theatre yesterday when the British film, "Cannerymen," was screened for the first time. One of Frederick Londale's sparkling comedies, it is noteworthy for its clever dialogue. The cast consists of only four characters, taken with immense success by Yvonne Arnaud, Cathleen Nesbitt, Tom Walls and Athole Stewart. A film which can be recommended wholeheartedly.

A brilliantly clever denouement, coupled with a wealth of dramatic situation, lifts "Guilty Hands," the Lionel Barrymore film now showing at the Queen's Theatre, well above the average. The film breaks somewhat new ground in that it is not concerned with the elucidation of a murder mystery, but the preparation for and performance of the "perfect murder," ultimately demonstrating that the best-laid plans may go awry, particularly if a clever woman is concerned.

of Jesuitry, one cannot but acknowledge that it has been a great instrument in the spread of Christianity throughout the world and in Christian education and its continually renewed spread and power, after a period of persecution, are probably due more than anything else to its educational aspect and its policy of sowing its seeds in the young by means of its schools.

At present there are Jesuit schools in almost every town of importance in Spain, which have supplied the greater part of education to the cultured classes and much of that to the lower classes.

It is therefore a great blow to those Spanish parents, who desire a Christian education for their children and to the general cause of education, for all those schools to be closed.

This, and the wounding of the deepest religious feelings of all devout Spaniards, are the two most far-reaching results of the decree expelling the Jesuits from Spain and they have called forth an almost unanimous protest from the Press throughout the country.

What will be the ultimate effect of the decree on the political situation and the education of Spain remains to be seen.

BRITISH FILMS.

THROWING AWAY THE PLUMS.

BY A LOCAL FILM CRITIC.

Coming at a time when every form of propaganda is being employed to exploit British films in fields hitherto held almost exclusively by the American productions, the pronouncement by Mr. Tom Walls, the famous English actor-director that he does not regard any attempt to improve on successful stage plays in the way of photography and other forms of technique, as necessary to the talking screen, will be received with mixed feelings by those who are sympathetically interested in the struggle of the British film industry to compete with its American contemporaries.

We are told that this attitude of the director of the famous Aldwych Players' comedies has caused something like a riot in the film industry, but it is hardly to be expected that all the reaction will be confined to the specialists. What is going to be the attitude of film-goers, particularly in Hongkong where the clamour for British films is increasing to this attempted strangulation of a growing industry? For it is an endeavour to strangle and to retard the progress of British films.

For several years, America led the way in the film industry to such an extent that competitive productions were nothing but second-rate in comparison. It was America which after carrying the silent film to a standard of artistry that defied any sort of serious competition, took to its bosom the talking invention, and began seriously to exploit its adaptability and potentialities as a new medium for entertainment. Once again England found herself left behind in a new field of artistic achievement, and it was not until quite recently that the British film industry has awakened to the insistent demand for the Home talking picture.

National Sentiment.

People became weary of the hard nasal voices of the American actors and actresses and a little nauseated by Back-stage-Al-Jolson cum Sonny Boy theme, the feeling among Hongkong "fans" being so intense as to promote newspaper controversy. Elstree, with her sound equipment, came into being through force of circumstances, or through lack of progressive and intelligent producers, found it necessary to start its industry at a point left behind by America. But thanks to the psychological make-up of the Englishman, this was tactfully ignored, until some time later, i.e., when even Britishers began to respond to the quality of American productions, and allowed their eyes to be opened to the difference between the English and American film.

Until then, the British talkie existed on national sentiment. "It is so lovely to hear real English voices" was the cry of the English film-goer, which eventually became the slogan of the British producer, and lured him into a sense of false security. And on the strength of an Oxford accent, and a cockney dialect, the British industry sat complacently back and waited for the world at large to write puff paragraphs in the newspapers, and glowing eulogies in the trade magazines, and for theatre managers to vie one with the other in their desperate haste to cancel contracts of American productions.

A Bubble Which Burst.

When none of these anticipations were realised, it was with feelings almost akin to amazement that British producers discovered something more was needed than attractive enunciation if their films were to find their way out of Home ports.

The world at large was then informed that the British film industry was going to assert itself and produce pictures which for technique, artistry, photography and acting, were to be supreme throughout the universe. Even American producers believed it and were astute enough to greet the next batch of English films with an outburst of honeyed phrases which again was sufficient to delude the British industry into a sense of complacency that their work was finished and was well done.

The New Technique.

Then began the era of freak photography, superimposition in place of black-outs, cutting instead of panning, the accentuation of realism at the expense of illusion and fake—a technique which seemed to infuse the silver screen with a personality. It was the astonishingly successful exploitation by French, German and American producers of this new technique in Hollywood studios which revealed to what extent the British productions were lacking.

It is astonishing to find the big appeal this has made to Hongkong film-goers. Where before many were content if a picture contained a certain amount of action, a passable plot and good acting, they now look for, and are disappointed if they do not find, the more subtle touches in technical production and direction. As one regular and enthusiastic "fan" was heard to remark a short time ago "Given English players and a Hollywood studio, and you have the perfect talking picture as far as the science has at present advanced."

And to-day we have this technique, (almost futuristic in its expression as witness "Quick Millions," which in direction and photography cannot be seriously challenged by any film made to date), brought to a standard which is daily finding favour with the millions who attend cinemas, condemned, or at least ridiculed, by a British director upon whose shoulders lies part of the responsibility of the future success of British films.

An Emotional Camera.

The British industry has still a long way to go before it can confidently compare its productions with those from Hollywood. The actors are there, as America has found to her lasting gain, but acting alone cannot to-day satisfy the advanced ideas of the film-fan. He has got beyond the stage of requiring to see the players in a taxi bowling along the crowded thoroughfare in order to satisfy himself that they did take a taxi. He needs a variety in photography, something more than the alternate close-up and long shot. He professes suggestion to heavy emphasis, unusual and unexpected manipulation of the camera to the stereotyped ground shots. The German photographers, through the American producers, have given us an "emotional" camera, and anything which savours of old-fashioned ideas in this direction must detract from the entertaining value of the film, when placed in a comparative sphere.

Different Treatment Required.

It is possible that Mr. Tom Walls had only sensational publicity in mind when he made his illuminating, but rather distressing statement. For the sake of his films it is to be sincerely hoped so, for it is because the screen demands different treatment than a stage production, that the new technique has been introduced.

If the British film industry is to be strangled by refusal to accept the obvious, all the propaganda and publicity in the world will not give it prestige. Film patrons are past the stage of believing all they read and hear about the wonders and super-magnificence of pictures. They are to-day in a position to form their own opinions.

"She's still poorly—but I've ordered a batch of them coloured cruise catalogues that will cheer her up."

CHINESE VOLUNTARILY GIVE UP KIANGWAN.

WEEK-END DEVELOPMENTS IN SHANGHAI SITUATION.

Shanghai, Feb. 27, 4.50 p.m.
It is officially stated at Japanese headquarters that the Japanese casualties in yesterday's fighting were 150 killed and wounded. The Chinese casualties are reported to be much heavier.
All the hospitals are full, and preparations are afoot to accommodate other wounded men in private houses in the French Concession which are now being fitted up.—Our Own Correspondent.

Night Bombing.

Shanghai, Feb. 27, 4.50 p.m.
Japanese bombing planes are expected to inaugurate a series of night flights to combat the Chinese manoeuvres behind their lines.
The Chinese troops are busy strengthening their second line of defence west of the Commercial Road and Paohuan Road. I learn that the street lights in Western Chapel will be out to night in order to shield the movements of the trucks and troops between Chien and Tazang.—Our Own Correspondent.

Kiangwan Given Up.

Shanghai, Feb. 28, 11.31 p.m.
Chinese troops no longer hold Kiangwan.
After fighting to retain it for more than a week, they have voluntarily relinquished it because of the intolerable conditions within the town.
It is stated that the streets are littered with dead civilians killed by the Japanese bombing planes. Chinese officials declare that in the streets alone, 1,600 dead civilians were counted, while the debris of what was once a town undoubtedly covers hundreds more. These bodies have polluted the water supply, and the stench makes it impossible to continue there, while the constant Japanese attacks by artillery and from the air makes it impossible to bury them; and therefore the Chinese have evacuated to a line of entrenchments immediately west of Kiangwan, which the Japanese formally occupied this morning.
There was fighting along this front all afternoon, but the Japanese attacks failed to dislodge the Chinese from their new positions.—Reuter.

Chinese Reinforcements.

Shanghai, Feb. 27, 10.53 p.m.
The Japanese are still awaiting the arrival of the main body of reinforcements, namely the Eleventh and Fourteenth Divisions, which it is reported already have reached the mouth of the Yangtze River.
One thousand Japanese soldiers, however, landed this evening, these being a fresh draft for Major-General Shimomoto's Mixed Brigade operating on the Japanese right wing and the Wusung front.
Chinese Headquarters announce that two additional Divisions are arriving from Nanking to reinforce the Nineteenth Route Army.—Reuter.

More Japanese.

Shanghai, Feb. 28, 7.15 p.m.
Fifteen hundred men, the advance guards of the Eleventh Division, arrived at Wusung at 5 p.m. aboard a flotilla of destroyers from Japan, and passed Wusung forts under a covering fire and landed at the wharves of the Shanghai-Wusung Railway.
They will spend the night at Wusung, being thrown into the Japanese line at Kiangwan early to-morrow morning.
The main body of the Eleventh Division is expected to-morrow.—Reuter.

Landed in Settlement.

Shanghai, Feb. 28, 11.31 p.m.
The first transport to bring the main body of the Japanese Eleventh Division tied up at the Japanese wharf inside the Settlement at 8.15 p.m., and is now unloading troops.
Other transports are expected to come up-river to-morrow morning.—Reuter.

An Order to Pilots.

Shanghai, Feb. 27, 5.24 p.m.
Mr. E. M. Green, Acting Harbour Master, under date of the 26th inst., advised the Manager of the Shanghai Licensed Pilots' Association "that the Chinese Government deems it inconsistent that pilots holding licences issued by the Government should pilot foreign men of war engaged in action hostile to the Government, and accordingly request you to inform the members of the Shanghai Pilots' Association that any men of war pilots who are unable to have their licences cancelled."
Mr. George Philip replied on the same date stating that the letter will be shown to each pilot on his reporting at the pilot station.
I learn that members of the Pilots' Association do not acquiesce to the intimation sent from the Chinese Maritime Customs.

The Japanese authorities, informed by Mr. Philip of the intimation received, have requested him to function as usual, stating that if the Chinese authorities persist in their present attitude they will blockade the Whangpoo River at Wusung for all Chinese vessels.—Our Own Correspondent.

Hungjiao Destruction.

Shanghai, Feb. 28, 11.23 p.m.
The Japanese again to-day bombed Hungjiao aerodrome, outside the western limits of the Settlement, completing the destruction of the hangars and ploughing up the landing field, making it almost impossible now to land a plane there.
It was this aerodrome that was used by Mrs. Victor Bruce, Baroness von Hugel, Brock and Silver, and other famous round-the-world aviators, when calling at Shanghai.—Reuter.

Truce Likely.

Washington, Feb. 27, 10.36 p.m.
The Chinese and Japanese forces in Shanghai are showing signs of weariness in the opinion of American military experts here, and consequently it is thought that proposals for a truce might soon be received sympathetically.—Reuter's American Service.

The League Meeting.

Geneva, Feb. 28.
With the approach of the extraordinary session of the League Assembly, the League secretariat and delegations are very active. Many opinions are current in the lobbies regarding the outcome. There is no fixed idea as to what the Assembly will decide, though some delegations are of opinion that as the object of the League is the re-establishment of peace, the Assembly may decide to entrust the task to the Powers mostly interested in the Far East. Others are of opinion that the only course open to the Assembly is to apply the provisions of the League Covenant.
It is also suggested to convene a conference of signatories of the Nine Power Treaty and leave it to them to dispose of the difficulty, though this course is regarded as unlikely, as being tantamount to abdication of the Assembly's rights under the Covenant.

An regards procedure, the morning's sitting will be devoted to the election of a president, probably M. Hymans. The Chinese and Japanese will present their cases in the afternoon. At the conclusion of a general debate, the Assembly will appoint a committee, after which the Assembly will decide the form of its resolution.

The proceedings are expected to last ten days. It is uncertain whether the disarmament committees will continue simultaneously, as many delegates will be occupied at the Assembly.—Reuter.

Japan's Offer.

Tokyo, Feb. 28, 3.58 a.m.
It is understood that the Foreign Office has instructed Mr. Shigemitsu, the Japanese Minister in Shanghai, and Mr. Matsudaira in Geneva, to make known at the suitable time and to the suitable authorities Japan's readiness to halt the Shanghai hostilities whenever the Chinese convincingly prove their willingness to withdraw leaving a twenty kilometre zone.
Japan will then undertake to withdraw her troops likewise "a certain distance" when the Chinese troops have actually evacuated.—Reuter.

Press Comment.

The Observer, in an editorial, says that it is plain that ever since direct Sino-Japanese negotiation is the straight means towards a settlement in the Far East, and that the Powers, without committing themselves, should encourage it.

"Keep out" is the irrevocable determination of the British people, for we would have everything to lose.

The lessons of the Far Eastern tragedy are fourfold:
First, if Japan ignores restraining wisdom altogether she will pay for it one day, although not now.
Second, the way to prevent war is to deal in advance with the causes plainly tending to its outbreak.
Third, this cannot be done without some kind of regular co-operation instead of intermittent contact between American and the League, and
Lastly, to advocate both disarmament and sanctions in the one breath is about the climax of human absurdity.—Reuter.

CASE DISMISSED.

P. O. LAUNCH ENGINEER DISCHARGED.

Charged with possession of 44 gummy bags, Kwok Tim, an engineer employed on the G.P.O. launch No. 1, was again brought before Mr. Fraser at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. Mr. F. X. d'Almada, Sr., appeared on behalf of the defendant.

The gummy bags were found by Mr. Chittenden on the launch in the possession of the defendant, who could not give a satisfactory account of how he came to be in possession of them. He was handed over to the police and subsequently charged.

Defendant stated in Court that the bags belonged to his aunt, who had asked him to keep the bags for her. She had a boat of her own, but it was too small.

The aunt, Leung Ho, was produced this morning by Mr. d'Almada, and she testified that the gummy bags belonged to her. She corroborated defendant's statement that she had taken the bags to the launch and had asked him to keep them for her.

His Worship decided that on the evidence, defendant should be discharged. This did not mean that he believed the defendant's statement or the evidence of his aunt, but there was a doubt, and defendant was entitled to it.

AN EXTRADITION CASE.

ECHO OF JUNK SEIZURE TWO YEARS AGO.

Extradition proceedings were commenced at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning for the surrender to the Cantonese authorities of a fugitive, Leung Cheung, who is alleged to have been implicated in a serious affair two years ago, when a junk was seized by pirates in Chinese waters near Canton.

The charges include armed robbery, piracy, kidnapping and attempting to destroy and sink the craft in view of the gravity of the allegations. Mr. Schofield resumed an application for bail made by Mr. Hin-shing Lo on behalf of the accused. His Worship provisionally remanded the accused until Thursday morning.

Mr. T. Murphy, A.S.P., indicated that Mr. R. E. Lindell would be appearing for the Crown.

The Royal Observatory reports that the anticyclone remains central to the N. E. of Hankow. Local forecast: N.E. winds, moderate, fine to cloudy.

Its decision pending a definite action by the League of Nations, according to usually well informed sources.

It is understood that Mr. Stimson is urging that the United States should decide in advance whether it would join in the economic sanctions against Japan, and that the decision should be communicated privately to the League in advance.

On the other hand, the boycott is opposed by the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of War on the ground that such action would probably lead to hostilities.

Mr. Hoover, it is understood, is of the opinion that no decision should be taken at the present time, which proposition it is believed will be adopted. The situation thus appears to resemble the historic comedy of Sir Richard Stratton and Earl Chatham with Mr. Stimson "longing to be at 'em" and standing waiting for the League and vice versa.—Reuter's American Service.

"Most Encouraging."

London, Feb. 27.
"A most encouraging event" was the comment of Lord Cecil on the letter published in the Times by Viscount Ishii and others.

Lord Cecil was addressing a meeting of the League of Nations on the situation in China. He declared that he was sure that if Viscount Ishii had been in control of Japan's policy during the last four or five months there would be a very different situation to-day.

If Japan made a determined effort to end the fighting and showed herself amenable to the suggestion of those who were not her ill-wishers, but determined advocates of the maintenance of peace by collective action, he was quite sure we should see that chapter of history closed. But Japan, from February 2, had been acting on the offensive, and he was forced to conclude that the entirely military sections were now conducting Japanese policy. He stressed the need of a definite policy on the part of Britain, which might either be a solemn repudiation of Japan's action or a formal demand on the part of the League for an armistice and the establishment of a neutral zone to be occupied by neutral troops.

Whatever was done, he concluded, must be done by the League of Nations co-operating with the United States.—Reuter.

THE B.B.C. THE L.C.C. AND L.S.D.

A dispute has arisen between the British Broadcasting Corporation and the London County Council. Briefly, the cause of the trouble may be summed up as follows: The B.B.C.

"When L.C.C. employees broadcast as private individuals, we pay them the fee, but when they broadcast in their official capacity, we have to pay you the fee. Now, we suggest that when L.C.C. employees broadcast in their official capacity, no fee be paid."

The L.C.C. says: "If our staff render official service, we must be paid."

"But," says the B.B.C., "a guinea or so to the L.C.C. means nothing. An argument over a guinea or two is parsimony in the B.B.C."

"No," replies the B.B.C., "it is merely economy."

Now the L.C.C. decline to continue the argument.

The following wedding is announced to take place Bangkok shortly:—

Mr. Frederick Henry Cooke, of the Bangkok Dock Company, to Miss Winifred Violet Franklin Howe, of the Diocesan Girls' School, Hongkong.

A radio message picked up in Hongkong at 3.12 yesterday morning from the ss. Iwa Iwa, which was then ten miles from Swatow, stated that she had lost her propeller on Saturday evening and was not under control. The vessel was on her way from Shanghai to Canton.

A series of police raids in various parts of the Yau-mat District last night and this morning resulted in a number of Chinese being arrested and detained in connexion with armed robberies which have been committed during the past couple of months. In some cases the police found the men in possession of arms. All those taken into custody will subsequently be paraded for identification by victims in recent outrages.

At to-morrow's meeting of the Sanitary Board, the President will move:—"That the Board does approve the introduction forthwith of by-laws (or conditions of grant) as a condition of siting in each and all of the following premises licensed or registered by the Board namely:—Premises specially licensed under Section 78 for the sale of food usually sold in a market; aerated water factories; bakeries; food-preserving establishments; dairies; public laundries."

The discovery of their operations was made in August, 1930. It had been known for some time by the big couturiers that there had been a leakage of secrets. As a result of information obtained by the police a descent was made on Mrs. Oliver's house in Paris where a large number of sketches of the latest designs were seen. Similar finds were made in a shop rented by Mrs. Davis.

Sketches.

In the course of the trial it was stated that the sketches were bought by the defendants for ten francs and sold by them in New York for six dollars apiece. It was alleged that Mrs. Davis made an income of about £4,000 a year out of this trade.

The women, pleaded that as they had bought the sketches from French copyists there was no dishonesty on their part. They are considered to have got off lightly as the Paris dressmakers have been on the warpath on this subject for years, and hoped to get the "pirates" expelled.

The prejudice to the dress-trade resulting from the system of copying is considerable. The flourishing existence of the system is largely a consequence, of course, of the enormous prices asked for the originals. Since the crisis the rare client prepared to pay these prices has almost disappeared, with disastrous effects to the trade.

A bold attempt to remedy the situation is now being made by Mme. Chanel, the most famous of all the couturiers, who has stated her intention of making drastic reductions in the hope of reviving custom.

HOW DIVER SAW
LOST SUBMARINE.DRAMA OF SOS FOR
BRIGHTER LAMP.

Portland, Feb. 4.
Did the M 2 dive too steeply when she was exercising off Portland?

The divers who found her nearly six miles W.N.W. of the Bill discovered that she was lying with her bow in the sand and her stern slightly tilted.

The M 2 rests among the skeletons of ships that strewn the bottom of West Bay. The story of how she was found was told today.

Yesterday afternoon H.M.S. Thruster saw oil bubbles coming to the surface in Portland Race and lowered a small boat to make a closer investigation. Dundalk and Dunoon, two minesweepers, set out to sea and linked their sweeps together.

An obstruction was located at the bottom of the sea, which carried away 350 fathoms of wire sweeps.

Diver's Struggle.

From H.M.S. Tidworth a diver descended, and at 8 p.m. reported that by the light of his lamp, which has a radius of 6 ft., he had seen a wreck with fresh paint.

Signals flashed ashore and a 20,000 candle power submarine lamp was rushed out to Portland Race.

Once again the diver climbed down the ladder and vanished under water off the rugged headland of Portland Bill.

By the light of the powerful lamp, the glow of which could be seen by those on the surface, the diver was able to see objects over an area of 15 square feet. In his heavy leaded boots he fought the current that threatened to sweep him away.

On the conning tower he read "M 2." At last the submarine had been found and the diver signalled to be pulled to the surface.

The M 2 lies close to another tomb—the steel hull of a German U boat. Side by side lie the German sailors, who died during the war, and our men of a later generation. On the other side of the M 2 is the skeleton of a British "Q" ship.

Other divers, who descended to night, had been able to walk beneath the part of the hull above the sea bed.

A Black Flag.

A little black flag tosses buoyantly over the spot. The M 2 lies in 18 fathoms which is a little over 100 feet.

MISLAID.DELAY IN TAKING
SEAT IN LORDS.

The new Earl Russell leaves throughout the world as plain Bertrand Russell, writer on philosophy subjects expects to take his seat in the House of Lords some time next month.

When the Hon. Bertrand Russell became heir-presumptive early last year there was speculation as to whether he would exercise his right to sit in the House of Lords.

One of the reasons for the delay was that the original patent held by the late Earl was mislaid. A new peer must bring his patent or a certified copy, to the House before being allowed to take his seat.

"The patent is not lost," said Earl Russell, "but it was left among the late Earl's papers, and they have not yet all been gone through."

Asked if he was likely to devote himself very largely to political questions in the House of Lords, he replied:

"I do not think I shall take a very active part. I shall continue to use my pen, as I prefer it to political speaking."

At the House of Lords it was explained that it was by no means unusual for an original Patent to get mislaid or lost. Copies are obtained from the Patent Roll at the Record Office.

KIDNAPPED.NIGHT EPISODE IN BERLIN SQUARE.

Berlin, Feb. 4.
A man walking at night with two women across the Alexanderplatz, the well-known central square of Berlin's East End, was suddenly shot down; the women fled and the victim was carried off by two men who had been hiding in the darkness of a nearby doorway. No trace of any of the persons concerned has so far been discovered.

These facts, which have only today been made public, were told to the police on Friday night by a taxi-driver who drove up just after the victim of the crime had collapsed in the road. The driver and his fare were beginning to offer assistance when two rough-looking individuals warned them to clear out quickly.

Two other people who heard the shots and were likewise threatened when they tried to interfere have made corroborating statements to the Berlin police, whose headquarters is only about 200 yards from the site of the crime.

The man who has thus mysteriously disappeared is known to have been middle-aged and of prosperous appearance. The two women in his company are stated to have made his acquaintance earlier in the evening in a restaurant of doubtful repute, and there appears to be reason to suspect that they lured him into a trap.

The police have searched all the houses and yards in the vicinity of the square, but although the crime occurred nearly a week ago, nothing more has been heard or seen of the injured, or possibly dead, man.

P.M.G. REJECTS
MEN'S CLAIM.POSTAGE STAMP
"TAXATION."

The Postmaster-General, Sir Kingsley Wood, on Feb. 6, received another deputation from the Union of Post Office Workers, which claims an all-round increase of 10s. a week in the basic pay of the grades it represents.

The conference lasted two hours. According to an official statement issued Sir Kingsley reminded the deputation that the Post Office staff had no sacrifice imposed on them beyond that which automatically followed from the operation of the cost-of-living agreement, to which the union were a party.

In addition, they had security and advantages in such matters as pension and sick pay.

It was pointed out, too, that the position of the Post Office staff would come under review in discussions between the staff side of the Whitley Council and the Treasury, in common with the rest of the Civil Service.

PUBLICITY NEEDED TO COMBAT CRIME.

LAW JOURNAL'S "PROTEST."

Commenting on the remarks of Mr. Justice McGarrick at Norfolk Assizes recently that many folk did not know that incest was a crime, the "Justice of the Peace" in its current issue, states:

"It is a melancholy commentary upon the conditions of morality in some districts that incest cases continue to come before magistrates to be remitted to the assizes."

"Moreover, the general inhibition on the discretion of the Press, contained in the Judicial Proceedings (Regulation of Reports) Act, 1926, has had such a blighting effect on newspapers that many disagreeable things are suppressed which should be proclaimed for the benefit of the public, despite the squeamish susceptibilities of the few. This is especially true of the attenuated Divorce Court reports."

IN DARK ROOM.

Oso, Feb. 4.
An extraordinary attack on the Norwegian Minister of Defence in his office here has just been revealed.

The police state that the Minister, Major Quisling, went into an unlighted room on Tuesday to fetch some documents when someone sprang out, threw pepper into his face and tried to kill him with a knife. Major Quisling struggled and the noise brought some officials to the spot.

Major Quisling received minor injuries. It was at first believed that robbery was the motive but it is now stated that the safe in the office was untouched and nothing was interfered with. The outrage is ascribed to Communists.

Major Quisling served as a military attaché in Russia at the outbreak of the Revolution. The Communists have accused him of many crimes, including that of being a British spy in Russia.

THE NEW POOR.

BRITISH DUKE SELLS HIS CORONET.

London, Feb. 28.
One of the most astonishing sidelights on Britain's rush to sell gold occurred when a Duke, whose name naturally is withheld, walked into the shop of a Bond Street jeweller carrying a coronet under his arm.

Four hours later he received a cheque for £15,000.

The coronet, which was set with many precious stones, was over a century old. Its owners have held Barons rank in Britain for five centuries, and the present Duke and his forebears have worn the coronet at Royal coronations since the days of the Georges.

The coronet was sent to Amsterdam, where it will be stripped of its gems before going into the melting pot.—Reuters Special Service.

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

THEATRES.

One of the most amusing incidents in "Canaries Sometimes Sing" showing at the King's Theatre today, the film adaptation of Frederick Lonsdale's witty comedy in which Tom Walls in the role of a playwright anxious to get rid of his highbrow wife, takes it over with his friend, who is in love with her. They talk it over a bottle of brandy for company and both get very intoxicated. Tom Walls must have practised being drunk for weeks prior to the final take for his expression of benign haziness, the peculiar thickening in his speech and the eventual self-pitying stage that he reaches is perfectly done. In fact, we wonder if something other than coloured water was utilised.

"Once A Lady."

The only difficult phase of this story to believe, is that it actually was not circulated by a California Chamber of Commerce, nor any other organization, having been the result of the strange case of a native pony huffed at the approach of fog.

It emanates from an authoritative Paramount bulletin, compiled in the course of filming "Once A Lady," newest stellar vehicle for Ruth Chatterton, and having to do with the strange case of a native pony huffed at the approach of fog.

Fog, English fog at any rate, it seems are strange in California; at least at certain hours.

In the course of the action, which will be on view at the King's Theatre next Thursday, Mrs. Chatterton was called upon to ride in a quaint English pony cart, through a fog to keep a secret rendezvous with the "boy" of the house.

The setting, a bit of old England, proved to be the stuff of which comedy is made. The fog rolled in on schedule. Director Guthrie McClintic, called "Camera," and Mrs. Chatterton started on her first pony cart ride since childhood.

But the picture makers had not reckoned with "Santa," temperamental California pony, who had never been called upon to act in a film. He took one sniff at the synthetic weather and refused to budge.

The director finally resorted to the time-honoured expedient of having an aide attach a bunch of alfalfa to a pole and suspend it in front of the pony, just out of camera range. The horse temporarily forgot the fog and followed the bait while the scene was being filmed.

"Tollable David," the all talking version of Joseph Herge's children's fantasy by Columbia Pictures made an auspicious bow to local audiences Saturday night at the Central Theatre. As the various thrilling episodes of the picture flashed into view, a noticeable appreciation was sent through the audience.

The story of "Tollable David" is a simple one of a mountaineer's feud between two families. The worthless Hatburns have named the eldest son of the Kinemon household and indirectly caused the death of Hunter Kinemon, head of the house, as a result of the excitement over his boy's cruel injury.

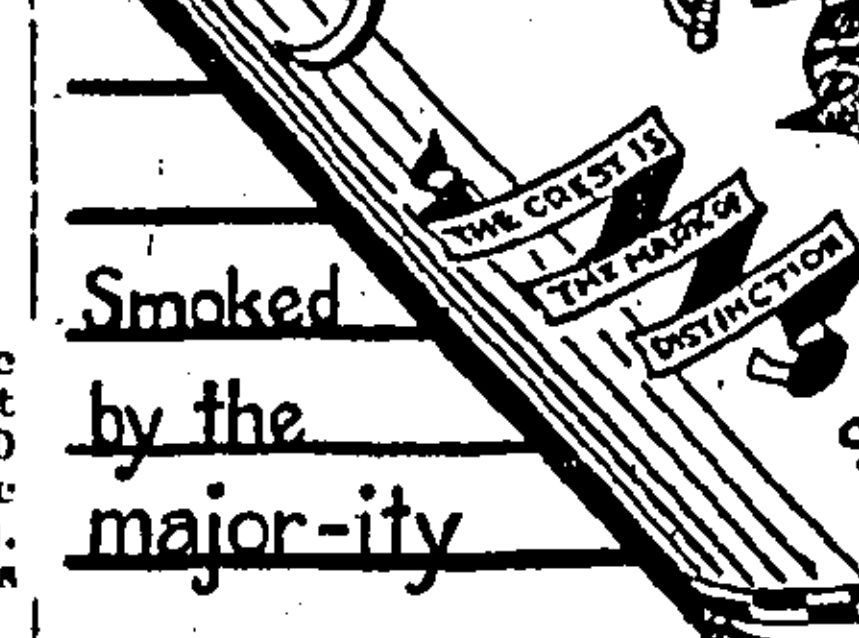

No one is left to avenge the unfortunate Kinemons but David, the youngest son—just a "tollable" lad. The fact that David is in love with Esther Hatburn, a relative of the treacherous group which has caused so much havoc in the Kinemon household, makes things just so much more difficult all around.

Tragedy and the responsibility of providing for his people cause a transformation in David's character. It enables him to avenge himself upon those dastardly cowards who have wrecked his home. Esther becomes his bride and he comes into the man's estate with a happy future and a clear conscience no longer manacled by the overwhelming menace of an unfulfilled feud.

Richard Cromwell, the unknown who plays the title role is a "find."

He possesses all the characteristics required by his role—rich charm, physical handsomeness and a rugged character. The supporting cast is a distinguished one. Joan Peers plays the feminine lead opposite the star, Ronh Rooy, a difficult character role. Edmund Breese the father of the Kinemon household, Helen Ware, his wife and George Duryan, his eldest son. Others in the cast include Harry E. Wadhall, Harlan E. Knight and Peter Richmond. John Blystone directed.

THE DEFAULT OF
N.S.W.BLOW TO AUSTRALIA'S
PRESTIGE.

Melbourne, Feb. 3.
The Federal Cabinet is determined to settle "Langism," but finds the procedure difficult and slow.

The Commonwealth's writ, issued today, claims repayment of moneys received, also an account of moneys due and costs. If judgment is given and Mr. Lang, the Premier of New South Wales, defaults against the order made by the High Court rules he can be sent to gaol for contempt until the liability is liquidated. Mr. Lang has also advised that loans for public works may legally be stopped by New South Wales.

The Melbourne Herald is insistent that Sir Philip Game, Governor of New South Wales, should dismiss Mr. Lang as the quickest way out, but the Governor so far remains silent.

Sensor Sir Hal Colebatch, one of the ablest Governmental authorities, writes in the Argus that the default has damaged Australia's prestige. A better procedure would have been to make payment first and then to take action against Mr. Lang.

He also emphasizes that the States have equal rights with the Commonwealth to demand lessened expenditure, and Mr. Lyons, the Commonwealth Premier, should take steps to abolish the Federal Savings Banks, Public Works, Health, Forestry, and Markets Departments as duplicating State activities, and also evacuate the land tax and other taxation fields.

He possesses all the characteristics required by his role—rich charm, physical handsomeness and a rugged character. The supporting cast is a distinguished one. Joan Peers plays the feminine lead opposite the star, Ronh Rooy, a difficult character role. Edmund Breese the father of the Kinemon household, Helen Ware, his wife and George Duryan, his eldest son. London, Feb. 27.
Saturday's Home Football matches resulted as follows:
OVER 100,000 spectators watched the two outstanding Cup tie matches on Saturday and in the stampedes which resulted from the huge crowds who thronged the entrances in an endeavour to secure admission to the grounds, nearly two hundred persons were injured, six being removed to hospital from Leeds Road.
In the stampedes among the spectators who crowded the Leeds Road ground (where Huddersfield had the Arsenal as their visitors in the Sixth Round of the English Football Cup), 150 people were injured of whom six were taken to hospital for treatment, two being detained.
The match attracted a record Cup-tie crowd for the ground, approximately 67,000 spectators paying for admission, H. Roberts, who only scored one goal for the Arsenal in League matches last season, gave the London club their only goal against Huddersfield within the first minute of the commencement of play.
There was an attendance of 55,000 spectators at Anfield Road, where Liverpool, the conquerors of Everton, went down to Chelsea by two clear goals.
Here, again, many of the spectators were hurt. H. Gallacher, the leading scorer of the team, gave the visitors the lead, whilst G. Pearson put them further ahead.
At St. James' Park Newcastle trounced Watford, the only Third Division team to enter the Sixth Round, by five clear goals, three of which were scored by J. K. Richardson.
T. Kettle, the centre forward and prolific goal scorer of Notts County, had to be carried off the field at High Road suffering from a fractured shoulder sustained in their match against Tottenham Hotspur. (Our Own Correspondent.)

GREAT RUGBY PLAYER.

DICKY OWEN FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL ROOM.

London, Feb. 27.
It. M. ("Dickie") Owen, one of the greatest Rugby half-backs who has ever lived, and one who had gained 35 "caps" for Wales, has been found dead, hanging in a room in a hotel at Swansea.—Reuter.
[Owen was first given International honours at Swansea in 1901 when he was picked to play for Wales against Ireland. Since that year he appeared nine times against Ireland, being passed over on two occasions between 1901 and 1911. The year after his debut against Ireland he was selected for the matches against Scotland and England. Against the former he was included on nine occasions between 1902 and 1912. He played against England on ten occasions from 1902 to 1912, being omitted in 1908. In the years 1908-9-10-11 he was one of the representatives who met the Frenchmen while he was included in the Welsh fifteen against New Zealand in 1905, South Africa in 1907 and Australia in 1908.]

ESTATE COMPANY MEETING.

PROFITS DUE TO SALE OF PROPERTY.

MANAGERS' FEES.

Satisfactory business during the year was reported by Mr. Henry Humphreys (chairman) at the annual general meeting of shareholders of Humphreys Estate and Finance Company, Ltd., this morning. The profit was entirely due to the sale of property at Kowloon, declared Mr. Humphreys.

In his remarks, Mr. Humphreys said: "Gentlemen, the report and statement of accounts having been in your hands for the past 14 days I propose, with your permission, to take them as read. The profit is $201,211.15 more than the previous year, entirely due to the sale of property in Kowloon, without which the profit would have been somewhat less. Turning to the accounts you will notice that instead of an overdraft of $196,847.14 with our bankers last year we have now a credit balance of $313,713.14 partly due to sale of property and partly to the new issue of shares. The item under the heading of liabilities 'Premium on New Shares' $125,000 your Directors propose to transfer as follows:—$50,000 to Reserve Fund bringing this up to $500,000; $40,000 to Typhoon & Floods Insurance Fund, bringing this up to $100,000; $35,000 to Building Improvement Fund, bringing this up to $50,000.

Amongst the assets you will note that the item 'Sundry Debtors' which usually consist mainly of outstanding rents, this year stands at the large figure of $800,149.84 due to the sale of property in Kowloon not being completed. The purchaser is to complete today.

"Gift-Edged" Investments.
Another item of the assets 'Investments at cost' $352,285.50 appears in the accounts for the first time. The investments consist of shares in Hongkong companies which your Directors consider "gift-edged." As we were only getting 1 per cent. from the bank for our credit balance in current account we thought it advisable to get a considerably larger return by purchasing local stocks.

I do not think there are any other items in the accounts which call for comment but I should like to mention that it is proposed to increase the remuneration at present paid to our directors and the allowance paid to your general managers to cover office rent, salary of secretary and clerks. Although expenses have increased considerably, these have remained the same for very many years. Due notice will be given in the press when the dates for the extraordinary meetings necessary to pass such resolutions have been fixed.

I now have to propose that the profit of $429,924.89 available for appropriation be allocated as follows:—Pay a dividend of 8 per cent. & bonus of 4 per cent. on 150,000 old shares, $180,000; pay a dividend of 8 per cent. & bonus of 4 per cent. on 50,000 new shares (ranking for dividend as from 1st May 1931), $40,000; transfer to a Rebuilding Reserve, $150,000; carry forward, $59,924.89.

After the accounts have been seconded I shall be pleased to answer any question in connection with the account shareholders may have to put.

The Chairman's proposition was seconded by Mr. L. G. Bird, and carried unanimously. On the proposal of the Chairman, seconded by Mr. Frank Austin, Messrs. J. Scott Harston, J. M. Alves and C. G. Mackie, were re-elected directors, Messrs. Percy Smith, Seth and Fleming and Messrs. Lin and Davis were re-appointed auditors.

These present included Messrs. Henry Humphreys (chairman), C. G. Mackie, J. Scott Harston and J. M. Alves (directors), J. L. Que, (secretary), L. G. Bird, D. E. Clark, J. D. Humphreys, C. Bernard Brown, Frank Austin, M. Mahlik, D. V. Stevenson and H. R. Foryth (shareholders).

PLEA FOR YOUNGER CABINET.

"A THIRD SHOULD BE UNDER 40."

At least a third of the members of the Cabinet should be under the age of 40 instead of an average of 67, as to-day, urged Professor J. B. S. Haldane in a broadcast speech on science and civilization.

"Not only our politics, but our industry is controlled by old men," he said. "The average age of the directors of a number of representative companies is 62. Neither capitalism nor any other economic system can keep abreast of the times under such guidance."

"An electorate which thought in terms of human biology would see that at least a third of the Cabinet were under forty and not more than a third over 60."

"Measures should be taken to transfer the control of industry to younger men whether its ownership was public or private."

"You cannot expect old men to deal with the present world situation. The Universities of Cambridge and Oxford are often supposed to be backward and reactionary, but they have just agreed to a rule by which Professors must retire at 65, not because their intellects have decayed, but because with rare exceptions they cannot keep pace with the rapid increase of knowledge."

LOCAL GOLF.

CAPTAIN'S CUP TIE RESULT.

In the final tie of the match play stages of the Captain's Cup (Royal H.K. Golf Club), Surgeon Lieut. Comdr. E. J. K. Weeks, R.N., beat A. C. I. Bowker by one hole.

The Bogey Pool at Fanling, fixed for Feb. 27th and 28th, had to be cancelled owing to lack of entries.

ANNUAL MEETING ON FRIDAY OF THIS WEEK.

The Annual general meeting of the Victoria Diocesan and Missionary Association, Hongkong, will be held at the Cathedral Hall on Friday, March 4, at 5.15 p.m. It is earnestly hoped that all members will make a point of being present.

The Agenda follows:
1. Opening Prayer.
2. Presentation of Statement of Accounts for 1931 for adoption (Copy herewith printed with Annual Report).
3. Adoption of Budget for 1932 (Copy herewith printed with Annual Report).
4. Adoption of Annual Report (Copy herewith).
5. (a) Election of Officers: Vice Chairman, Hon. Treasurer, Hon. Secretary, Hon. Secretary for Hospital Supplies, Secretary for V. D. A. London Sales, Secretary for Xmas Gifts Fund, Outposts Secretary, Auditor.
(b) Election of Group Representatives to Executive Committee.
6. Chairman's remarks.
7. Address by the Rev. C. L. Blaudschell on "The Value of the V. D. M. A. in the Life of the Diocese."

Annual Report.
Membership. The V. D. M. A. has a membership of 311 an increase of 72 on the figures shown in the last Report and made up as follows:
Cathedral Group 167
St. Andrew's Kowloon Group 60
St. Peter's Group 20
Outposts Group 23

The Executive Committee met on February 13th, March 27th and October 2nd. At the meeting in March the following resolution was carried: "This Committee is of the opinion that the best means of making books in the Diocesan Library more readily accessible is for the book to be divided and placed in the Cathedral and St. Andrew's Church respectively for general use.
This method will involve an interchange of books half yearly and it is agreed that such an experiment to be made for a year in the first instance, as from the Annual Meeting.

There is no doubt that the experiment has more than justified itself.
"At Home."—An "At Home" was held in the Helena May Institute on April 20 when Miss F. C. Woo, M.B.E., spoke on her experiences in America where she collected $150,000 to help clear off the debt on the St. Paul's Girls' College new building.

Diocesan and Missionary Sundays. These were observed at the Cathedral on August 23rd and November 22nd, when the special preachers were the Rev. G. K. Carpenter and the Bishop respectively. Special services of intercession for work in the Diocese were also held in the Cathedral at 8 p.m. on June 24th and October 29th.

China Exhibition. The outstanding event of the year was the holding of the China Exhibition in the City Hall on November 5th, 6th and 7th. The V. D. M. A. was responsible for initiating the Exhibition and desires to place on record its appreciation of the splendid work done by the representative committee which had the matter in hand and brought it to such a successful issue. Full accounts of the Exhibition have appeared elsewhere and a full statement of accounts has been printed in the February Outpost Supplement. The presence of the Information Bureau and the V.D.M.A. Staff at the Exhibition undoubtedly helped to stimulate interest in the Association.

General.—Groups have little to report except that each one shows decided improvement in membership. Miss McGill who was Group Secretary for St. Andrew's resigned in December on leaving the Colony after a long period of energetic service for the V.D.M.A.

The Peace Army—A Local Movement.

[To the Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.]

Sir,—The news of the proposed Peace Army, initiated by Miss Maude Royden and others comes as not an extravagant, ridiculous, reckless and insane move to free the world from the bondage of that civilised barbarian, War, but a direct, inescapable and mighty challenge to all men and women who profess to love peace or have as their Saviour, Jesus Christ.

The present situation in Shanghai witnesses not only the utter bankruptcy of statesmanship, the complete breakdown of all legal international machinery for the outlawry of war, but also the crucial test for the peace forces of the world.

The great hope for the restoration of peace lies in those consecrated workers for peace around the world, whose only "vested interest" is love for human values, whose only "strategy" is sincerity and a fearless pursuit of Truth, and who will offer their lives, if need be, on the Altar of Peace by participating in a movement such as the peace army.

Persons in Hongkong interested or willing to join in a peace movement that will link itself immediately to Miss Royden's Peace Army and take effective steps in conjunction with it for the restoration of peace, will please send their names to Mr. G. B. Halstead. Kindly watch the daily papers for further news of the Hongkong and Kowloon Peace Movement, announcements of meetings, etc.

G. B. HALSTEAD.

Her place has been taken by Mrs. R. Baldwin.

The Working Party for Hospital Supplies has met regularly and despatched cases of needs to the hospitals in the Diocese. Mrs. Lang who rendered valuable service as Hon. Secretary resigned in the autumn on leaving for England, and Mrs. Finnigan has kindly undertaken the Secretaryship of the Hospital Supplies Fund whilst Mrs. N. L. Smith generously gave her time in administering the Xmas Gifts Fund.

The V.D.A. London Sales Fund was again in the efficient hands of Mrs. Koffey who was also responsible for the successful V.D.M. A. Stall at the China Exhibition.

Hon. Treasurer's Report.
The two main features of the year were firstly the low value of the Hongkong dollar, causing the London grant to yield the substantial sum of $5,079.37 and secondly the donations which totalled $1,946.65—largely due to the "China" Exhibition and the M. C. L. The former gift will not recur this year, but we hope we may look to the M. C. L. for regular support.
The quotas show a small decrease—due mainly to the separation of St. Andrew's subscriptions, which were formerly included in their quota.

This year they have been included under the head to subscriptions, and combined with an increase in the membership, this heading shows a substantial increase.

The total amount paid by the St. Andrew's group including subscriptions was $1,300.00.

Grants.—There was a saving under the vote for the Bishop's secretary, which was applied towards special grants voted in October when it was known how much would be available. The additional grants voted amounted to $1,574.32. The grants paid during the year, including "special votes" totalled $8,260.70.

Expenses are rather higher than usual owing to certain accounts relating to 1930 not having come to hand until after the books for that year have been closed.

Reserve.—In view of the windfall caused by the London vote being remitted at an unexpectedly low rate of exchange, your committee approved the placing of $1,000.00 to reserve in addition to the usual sum of $250.00.

SMUGGLING SEQUEL.

CONFISCATION OF LAUNCH ORDERED BY COURT.

In connexion with the case in which Chan Kam-shing, coxswain of the steam launch Wah Shing Ton, was convicted of unlawfully allowing his launch to be used for smuggling 659 tins of opium, Mr. P. X. d'Almada, Sr., appeared before Mr. Fraser at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday morning ready for resumption of the confiscation order.

Mr. T. M. Hazlerigg was for the Crown.

It will be recalled that the defendant Chan Kam-shing was originally charged, together with the Chief Engineer, with unlawful possession of the contraband, which was hidden under the stern of the launch. The Chief Engineer was discharged, but the coxswain was convicted and sentenced to 12 months' hard labour. Mr. d'Almada applied for a rehearing of the case, which was granted, and, at the rehearing, the charge was amended to one of unlawfully allowing his launch, the Wah Shing Ton, to be used for an unlawful purpose. On this charge, the coxswain was convicted and re-sentenced to 12 months' hard labour.

Competency Not Challenged.

In making his application on Saturday, Mr. d'Almada did not dispute the competency of the Court to order confiscation. He admitted that the Court had full power to order confiscation, but he would attempt to show his Worship why a confiscation order should not be made in this case. He submitted that on the evidence given in the case, the owners of the launch, the Yuen Yuen Company, for whom Mr. d'Almada was appearing, could not be held responsible for the acts of any member of the crew employed by the charterers of the launch. The Wah Shing Ton was under charter to another company, and one of the conditions of the charter party was that the Wah Shing Ton was not even allowed to tow any vessels known to be carrying contraband. He submitted that the owners could not be held responsible.

Another point Mr. d'Almada said he would like to bring out was that, in convicting the coxswain, his Worship said the defendant must have known there was contraband on board. His Worship remarked then on the fact that the Chief Engineer had told the defendant that should a Police launch be sighted, he (the Chief Engineer) was to be warned. Mr. d'Almada pointed out that the coxswain did not do anything of the sort on sighting Revenue Officer Humphreys' launch. That showed he might have suspected there were contraband goods on the launch, but he did not know definitely. That was a point in his favour and therefore a point in favour of the Yuen Yuen Company.

Mr. d'Almada then quoted authorities in connexion with the confiscation of vessels, pointing out that only goods were a ship forfeited unless it was a habitual offender, or if a responsible officer of the ship was chiefly to blame.

Crown Submissions.

On behalf of the Crown, Mr. Hazlerigg pointed out to his Worship that the authority quoted by Mr. d'Almada made it quite clear that "rarely was a ship forfeited unless it was a habitual offender or if a responsible officer was chiefly to blame." Evidence had been given in the case that the Chief Engineer was the prime mover in the smuggling, and asked Mr. Hazlerigg was not the Chief Engineer of a vessel a responsible officer?

Going on, Mr. Hazlerigg said Mr. d'Almada's argument was that the owners of the launch could not be held responsible for the reason that the launch had been chartered to another company. If this argument held good, shipowners could defy the Crown through the simple subterfuge of chartering their vessels to another company. By this means, they could do anything without the Crown being able to do anything to prevent them.

In his opinion, the owners of the Wah Shing Ton deliberately relinquish-

LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, HONGKONG.

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, yesterday.

The Golden Text was—"God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved." (John 3; 17.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible. "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds; Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high." (Hebrews 1; 1-3.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.—"Christ is the true idea voicing good, the divine message from God to men speaking to the human consciousness. The Christ is incorporeal, spiritual—yes, the divine image and likeness, dispelling the illusions of the senses; the Way, the Truth, and the Life, healing the sick and casting out evils, destroying sin, disease and death. As Paul says, 'There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus.'" (p. 332.)

ed control of the ship, knowing that it was open to seizure under certain circumstances. By their charter of the launch to another company, lock, stock and barrel, the Yuen Yuen Company were running the risks with their eyes open and had to face the consequences.

His Worship decided in favour of the Crown and confirmed the forfeiture of the Wah Shing Ton.

HINDENBURG'S PEACE PLEA: A LOAF OF BREAD, A JUG OF WINE-AND HOW!

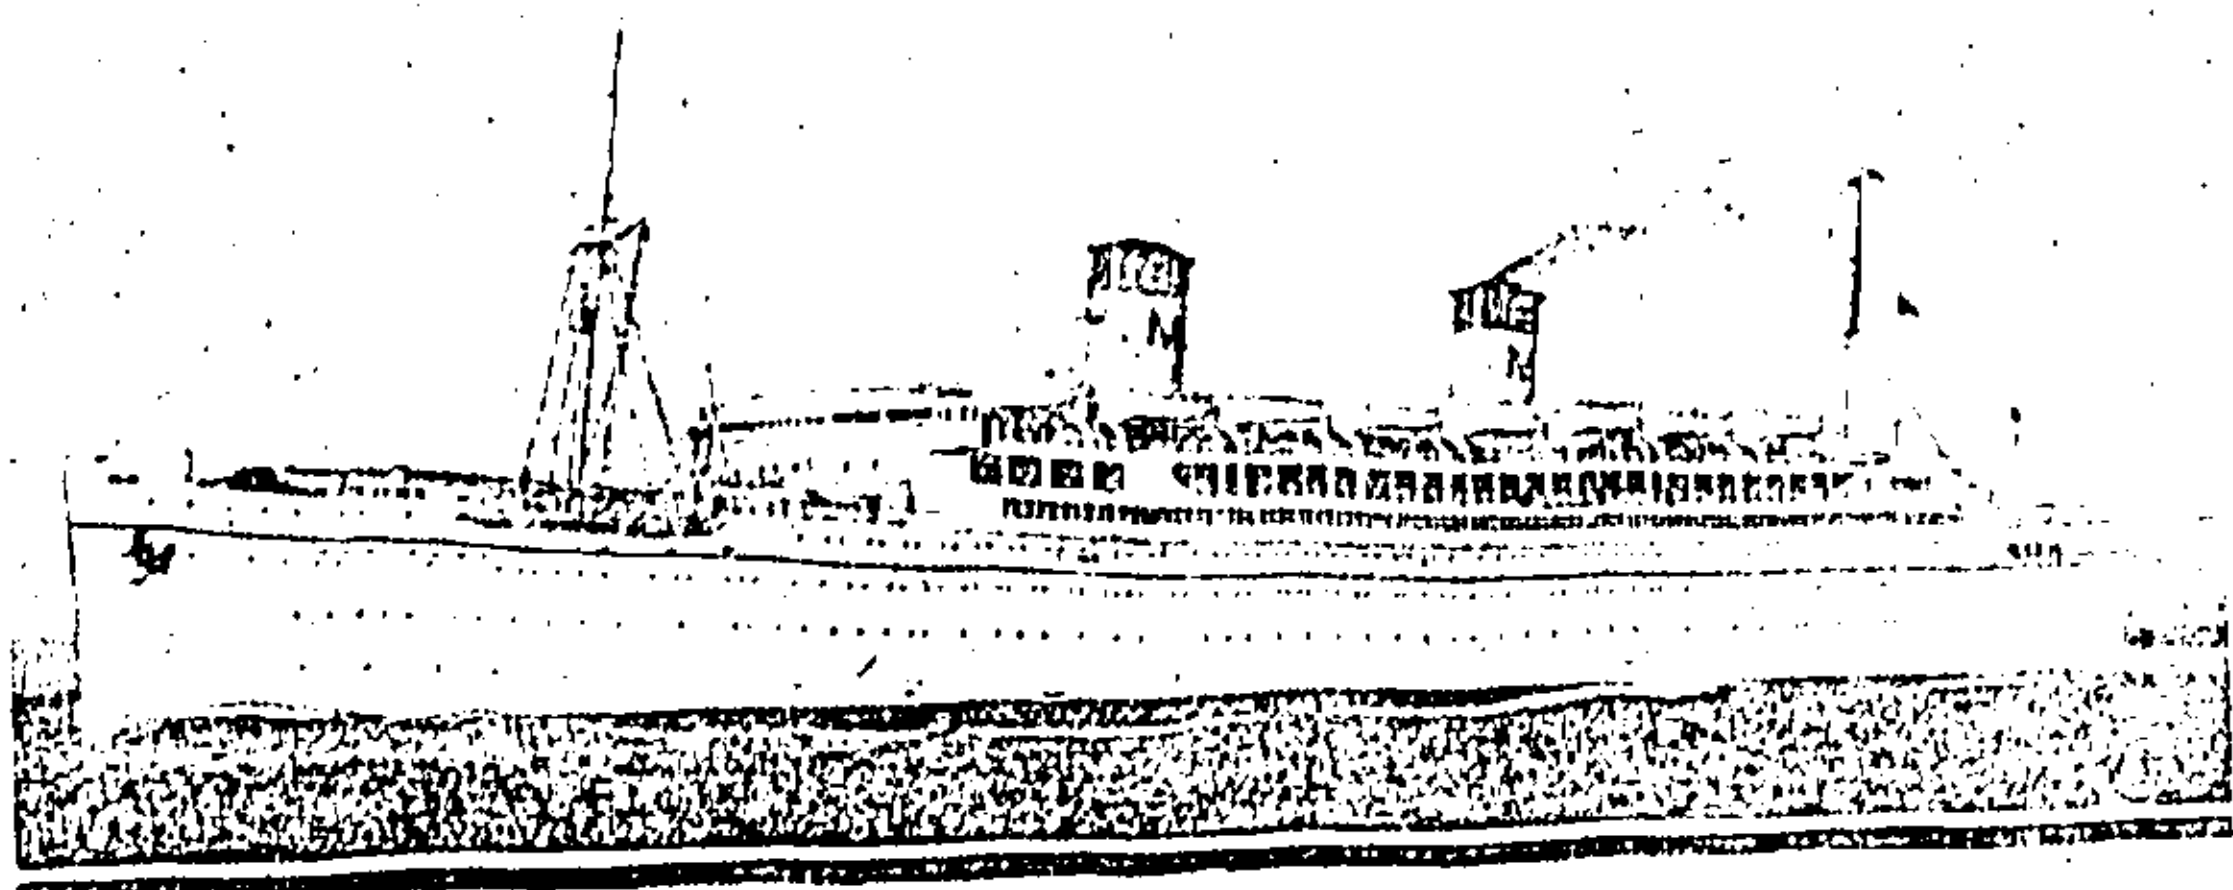

President Hindenburg, the 84-year-old German Chief Executive making a plea for universal peace from his office in Berlin.

"Grace, beauty, conversational ability, clothes" Smiling Mlle. Elaine Jourde (above) has all according to the jury of French artists and theatrical managers who chose her "Miss Paris of 1932" recently.

It wasn't a jug of wine, as in Omar Khayyam's famous "Rubaiyat" that accompanied this loaf of bread. Instead, it was a bottle of brandy—one of a number of bottles cleverly hidden inside loaves of bread received at the Philadelphia post office. A lucky loaf furnished the "tip off" to the illicit shipment.

The new Matson liner Mariposa, which will operate between California ports and Hawaii, Fiji, New Zealand and Australia. The vessel, left, is 632 feet long.

The Grand Duke Cyril (above) golfs on his modest estate in France for the day when he hopes to become "Czar of Russia." But it was a devastating blow to the White Russian "army" when General Koutepoff (upper left), its guiding genius, was mysteriously kidnapped in Paris three years ago, and murdered.

Once a child worker in a Lancashire cotton mill, Miss Evelyn Holt (above), is paid 1600 a week as the principal star of a German film company.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE

by KAY CLEVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

ANNE, CECILY and MARY-FRANCES Fenwick live with their grandparents, once wealthy, now no longer so. The story opens Anne has been engaged to Philip Kroyd, young lawyer, for eight years. They can not marry because Anne knows her sisters and grandparents depend on her to manage their home.

Cecily brings Harry McKool home to dinner with her. She is falling in love with him. Mary-Frances and her friend, Rembrandt, are excited about the arrival of a stock company actor known as EARL DE ARMOUNT. They meet him on the street and he speaks to them. Mary-Frances is thrilled, and Anne meets him that night after the performance. She tells him she is 18, falls to note the cheapness of his love-making and after that first meeting promises to see him again.

Next morning Phil telephones Anne he is coming to take her down town in his car.

CHAPTER XVII

Almost at once, before he had turned the car from the tree-lined driveway into the street, Phil said, "Anne, when are we going to be married?"

Ann, still too happy to be bothered, said, "Oh, Phil!" and patted his arm.

"I mean it," he insisted. "When?"

"Oh, Phil," Ann responded, but less happily.

"Ever?"

"Now, dear," she reproached, with no happiness at all.

"Seriously, Ann. I was thinking last night. What are we waiting for? For your grandparents to die?"

"How can you!" Ann protested.

"That is a terrible thing to say."

"Not at all. We all die. Why evade the statement? But with the care Mr. and Mrs. Fenwick take of themselves they may live for 10—20 years yet. You and I are almost 30 years old. Twenty or 10 years from now would make a late beginning for us, wouldn't it?"

"I don't know why you want to not like this, this morning," Ann said, and added, "I was so happy."

"Yes, dear, but don't you see—"

"No. Not this morning. I was so happy."

"Why should facing a fact make you unhappy?"

"I don't know. But it does. Talking about people dying and so on. I'd felt that we were making sort of a fresh start this morning—maybe."

"We are, dear," he told her. "That is what I want to do. I want to make a fresh start toward some definite goal. I want to get out, and get you out of this atmosphere of starchy, vague, sentimental optimism. I'm sorry if I shocked you, or hurt you by talking about the death of your grandparents. It wasn't necessary for me to say that, because that isn't what we are waiting for—is it? At least, I hope it isn't. Still, there must be a point somewhere that we can place and say, 'When that happens we can marry.' I want to see if we can place that point."

Ann sighed and shook her head a little.

"Suppose," Phil went on, "that we say we are waiting until I can make enough money to contribute the same amount that you are now paying in to the household. That would mean an extra hundred a month, wouldn't it? And that isn't impossible, is it?"

"No," said Ann. "Yes," said Ann.

"Meaning?" he questioned parenthetically.

She evaded. "There's your mother, too."

"What I send to mother is considered as a part of my own present living expenses. I'll have to be sure of enough, over and above my living expenses, to take care of your part of the expenses in your household. When I reach that point, shall we say, we can be married and will be?"

"There'd be two of us then," she said. "Now you have only your own expenses. Besides, it isn't just the money, you know."

"I knew you'd say that. If I had an extra hundred a month right now you wouldn't marry me, would you?"

"You aren't fair, Phil. You just aren't fair. How could I go off and leave Cecily with the entire responsibility of the house and Grand and Rosalie and Mary-Frances? You know as well as I do that the only way in the world, Cissy and I manage to keep going at all—to have any good time, for leisure, or to keep our jobs, for that matter—is by taking turns with the work and sharing it and the responsibilities. Suppose Cissy had been alone last winter when Grand was ill? As it is, with the two of us working as hard as we can, things got away ahead of us."

"Just keeping that big house, and getting the meals, and doing the ironing from the wet wash, and everything, is a full-sized job for one person. Cissy couldn't take that all over and keep her office position. She isn't strong enough. No one woman would be. And she is so young. You used to say one reason you loved me was because I had a sense of honour and fairness, but you don't seem to feel that way any more."

"Yes, I do. That's that, then. A hundred isn't sufficient. How much shall we have to add to the hundred to get a competent woman to do the housework?"

"I don't know."

"Fifty dollars? Sixty? Another hundred?"

Ann looked out of the window. "I was so happy," she said.

"Why were you, Ann?"

"I don't know. I can't imagine."

"Because you were being fair to Cecily?"

"You have no right to blame Cissy for everything."

"I'm not blaming Cissy for anything. I'm not really blaming you, either, Ann, for thinking always about being fair to Cissy and never thinking about being fair to me."

"That isn't true."

Phil shrugged. "Isn't it? Well, where were we? An extra hundred a month on top of the first hundred. Two hundred, then, more than I am making now—or the interest on $40,000—and we can be married?"

"I won't talk that way! You're loving me, not buying me. And my family isn't looking for some outsider to support them, and we don't want charity."

"Outsider is right," said Phil.

VOYAGE ROUND THE WORLD.

AN OLD SAILOR'S YEARNING

A sentimental voyage round the world will be started from Southampton shortly.
Mr. George Robbins, of Brixham, and his son, Mr. William Robbins, will set out in the 31-ton ketch Girl Winnie to seek adventure and romance.
The father will be living again the days of his youth; his son will be seeking for corners of the world for the first time.
Somewhere in the South Sea Islands they will join a band of treasure hunters in a search for gold.

As a young man, Mr. George Robbins was a sailor in wind-jammers, but when about to sit for his ticket he could not pass the eyesight test. Reluctantly he gave up the sea and entered business. He prospered and retired.

Round the Cape.
After his wife's death he yearned to return to the sea, so Mr. William Robbins bought the ketch in order that his father might realize his ambitions.
"It's going to be a wonderful trip," Mr. George Robbins said to a reporter recently. "I am going over the seas I sailed as a lad. It may be my last trip, but if I round the Cape once more and perhaps get a glimpse of the Roaring Forties I will die a happy man."

MITCHAM COMMON FOR TROOPS.

WAR OFFICE REQUEST.

A letter from the War Office asking for the use of Mitcham Common to train infantry was before the Mitcham Board of Conservators recently.
"There would never be more than a small number training at one time," said the letter, "and they would cause no inconvenience to normal users of the Common."
Mr. H. Roden, urged that the Board should have more details. When the War Office used Surrow Commons, he said, "it took the public all their time to get back their rights."
The Conservators decided to ask for more information.

WOMEN'S WORLD

FOR OUR LADY READERS.

BEAUTY HINTS.

(By Alicia Hart.)

The old slang phrase, "Shake a leg," is an excellent guide to exercises to limber you up.

You must shake your feet first, however. Begin with your toes, standing toes in, leaning more on the outside of your feet than the inside, and scrunch your toes about, trying to exercise every one.

If you imagine that you are a child digging your toes into nice wet mud or sand on a beach you will get the idea of how to wriggle your toes. Once you learn how, you can wriggle them inside your shoes during the day as you sit at your desk or ride on a street car or just wait for a friend in a restaurant. This wriggle helps circulation and is especially good for those who have cold feet in winter time, or any other time.

After you have limbered up your toes, stand on one foot and raise the other slightly and begin wiggling the whole foot, from the ankle. Turn it around in circles if you can. At least you can raise it up and push it back and send it part way to first one side, then the other.

Now try relaxing the ankle thoroughly and, still standing like a stock on one foot, shake the other foot by moving the knee on that side. Kick out from the knee and then let the leg fall back. This will move you about a bit until you get used to balancing on one foot. But it is excellent for your whole muscular system.

When you have thoroughly limbered up one leg to the knee, change feet and go through all the motions on the other side. Do both sides a couple of times and see if your feet do not feel much warmer and more alive. Now you need to work on your hips before your whole leg muscles feel totally relaxed.

TO-DAY'S BEAUTY HINT.

Elbows that have become roughened and wrinkled should be washed thoroughly with warm water and a good toilet soap applied with a medium soft nail-brush. Massage a skin food generously into the elbow, until the cream is absorbed by the skin. Pat clean with a soft towel, and apply vanishing cream. Do this two or three times a week before going out, and apply skin food every night.

Smart Footwear.

Paris puts her best foot forward in a patent leather Colonial pump with tongue and heel of black lace over white satin.

BLACK and WHITE.

If you get a smart outfit for dreary days now, you can have a grand time seeing how you look in an abbreviated dolman, in a very brief bolero that ties under your chin, with no back or front to speak of—only sleeves—or various kinds of sleeveless topplings that make a fetish of broad-shouldered effects and then let the arms go bare!

Simple, and Yet—

Something very, very smart uses the age-old black-white theme in a startling, new manner.

First, there is a semi-formal little dress of the black velvet, with a twisted belt of black and white, no other touch to relieve its simplicity. As a matter of fact, it is anything but simply cut. It fits admirably, but that is because it is so skillfully conceived.

Over this sits the smartest wrap, a sleeveless little cloak, of the black velvet, ermine outlined, that wraps itself about you. It is cut to be tucked and fitted tight to the waistline, with a perky little silhouette below the waistline where it flares. And plenty of room above the waistline for you to fold your arms and act like a lady going to some very important function.

The Perfect Hat.

The perfect hat for this is one that has a fitted crown of one of the new straws and a brim of starched chiffon.

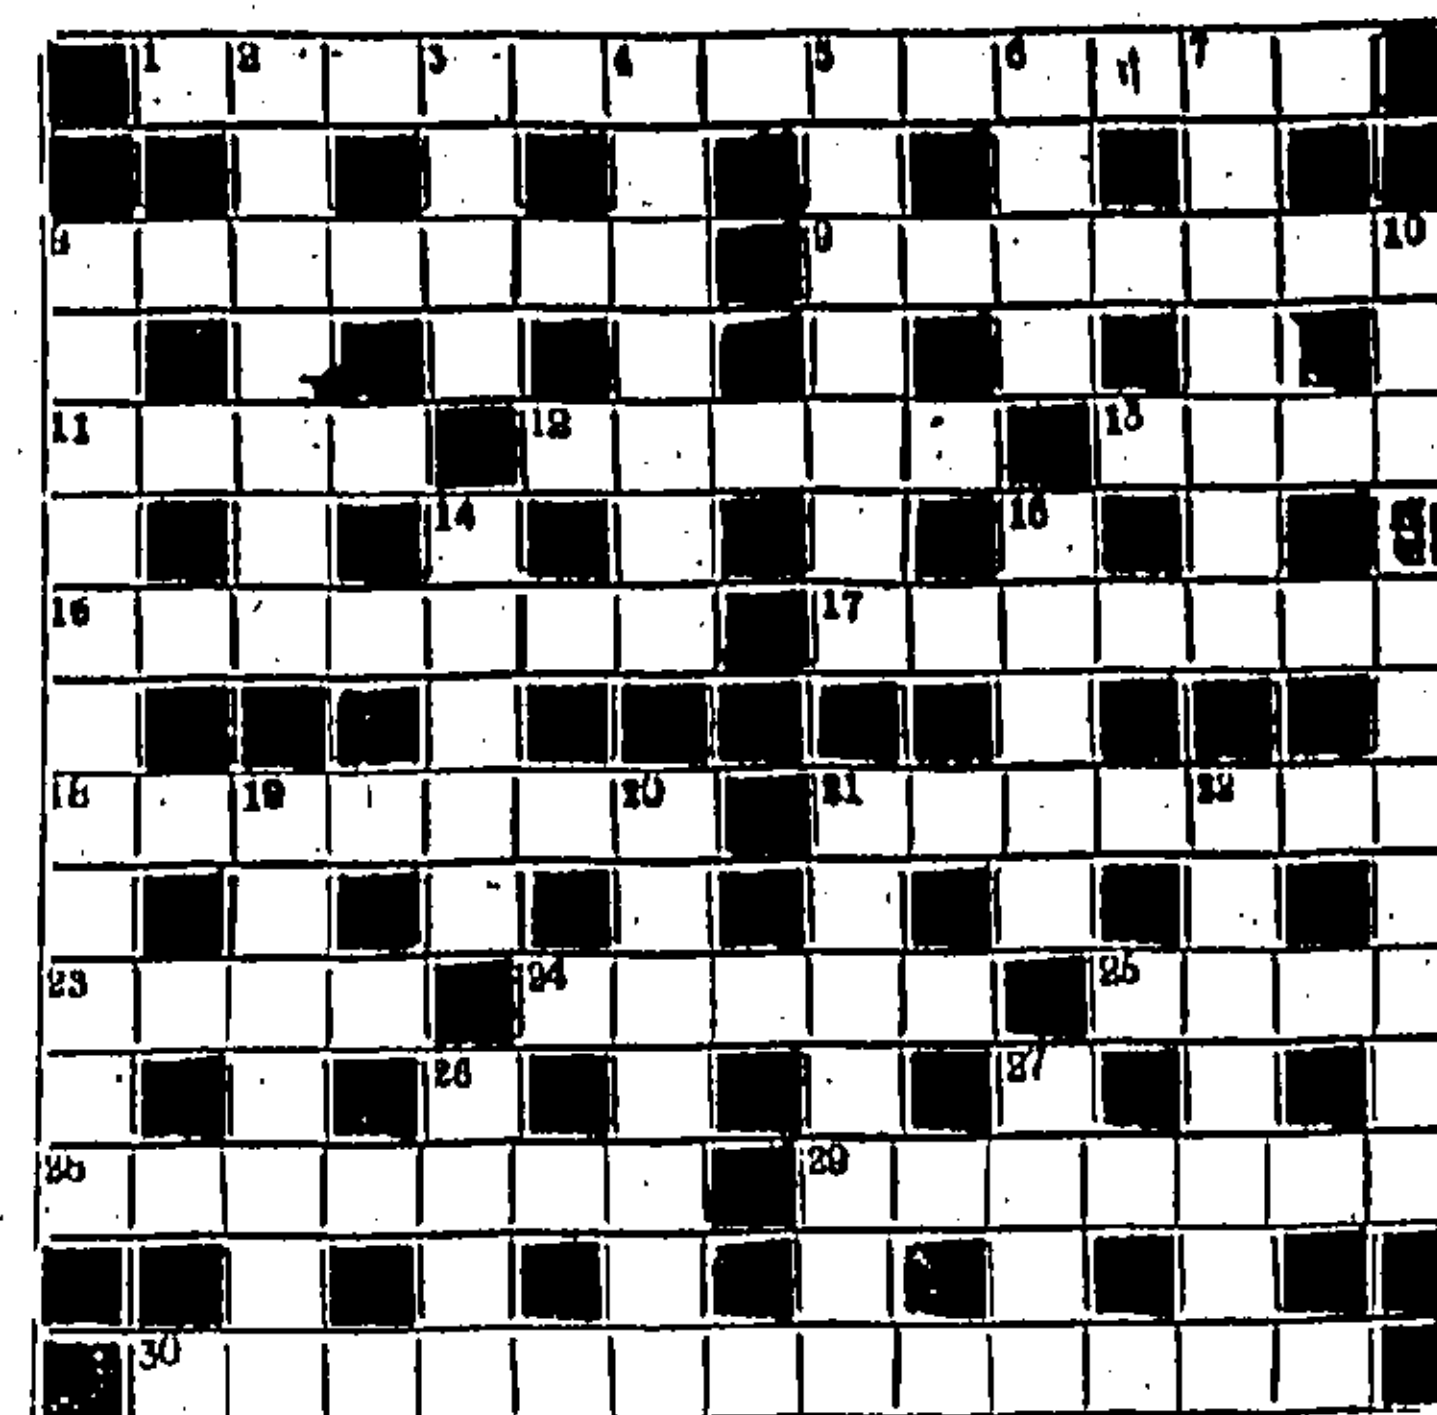

You can look through these brims just as if they were face veils, and they cast precisely the same glamour of enchantment over you that a veil sometimes does.

CHRISTENING SETS.

Christening sets for children may now be obtained in a variety of designs, and some of the most attractive include a small plate, with mug

to match, two spoons, and an egg cup, mounted in an attractive box. The plate, mug, and egg cup are of china, decorated with a favourite nursery rhyme design in bright colours, while the mug and the egg cup have silver stands.

GIRLS JOKE DURING
TRIAL FOR MURDER.
FLOWERS BEHIND THEIR EARS.

Calcutta, Jan. 20.
Gaily dressed in dainty red saris, with flowers behind their ears in the traditional style of Hindu maidenhood, two 16-year-old Indian High School girls stood on trial to-day for the murder of Mr. C. G. B. Stevens, the district magistrate of Comilla.

room and occasionally exchanged jokes.

"We demand chairs, otherwise we shall not take part in the proceedings," the girls declared when the trial opened.

It is alleged that Mr. Stevens was sitting in his bungalow at Comilla when he was approached by the two girls, who asked him to arrange a swimming competition, and that as he was talking to them unsuspiciously, he was shot and fatally wounded in the chest.

Yesterday the girls fasted as a protest against the quality of the prison food, but refused to submit a written petition.

SOME DISARMAMENT
DIFFICULTIES.

Whilst cynics may say there is no progress being made with disarmament, the Conference sitting in Geneva is attempting to achieve something by the appointment of sub-committees charged with investigation of land, sea and air armaments, war budgets, and political questions. It is carrying on its discussions within the framework of the draft Disarmament Convention, full liberty being reserved to all the delegations to develop their own proposals. Those who feel that differences over the methods of limiting armaments indicate that Governments have no real wish to disarm, may possibly be overlooking vital facts. Sincere and intelligent statesmen are labouring earnestly to achieve some measure of disarmament. With them the whole question is not "Shall we disarm?" but "How shall we disarm?" So far they see mere limitation as the only practicable step.

A glance at the problems now being thrashed out at Geneva discloses the difficulties of attaining even that minimum goal. For instance, in measuring land armaments, shall we count men or machines, material or money? Britain seems to favour budgetary limitation. That means that each nation's forces would be judged by the amount it spent on them. Japan and the United States opposed this plan eighteen months ago. They favoured judging by the actual number of men and guns. They pointed out that some countries have conscript armies which cost very little. And the American delegate declared, "It is far easier to conceal the application of a dollar than it is the existence of a rifle." On the other hand, representatives of other nations have argued that one man may be far better trained, one gun far more efficient, than another, so that a mere enumeration of men and materials without regard to what has been spent gives no true idea of strength. It would be a mere measurement of quantity, entirely ignoring variations in quality. There, briefly, is one dilemma. An one way out of it, the proposal has been made that the budgetary yardstick should be applied by each nation as against its own previous expenditures, not in comparison with the appropriations of any other country. Even this plan would depend somewhat for fairness upon when it was applied, and whether one nation had already built up its forces while another of equal rank needed to increase its strength to attain parity. Measuring land forces is even more difficult than balancing tons and guns on the sea. Varieties and variations in materials are legion. Opportunities for concealment are great. Indeed, it seems almost a hopeless task. But hope should not be lost. The fact, however, must be faced that "disarmament" needs to be "disarmed" of its false hopes. To-day it usually means limitation of arms and except for the three navies bound by the London Naval Treaty, it does not even mean that. But recognition of the distance still to go on the road to disarmament should help to speed our footsteps. What is needed is better understanding of the problem by citizens of all countries, and intelligent insistence by them that their Governments push on toward the goal.

THE JESUITS IN
NEW LIGHT ON THEIR EXPULSION.

By ARTHUR F. LOVEDAY.

However justifiable or unjustifiable the expulsion of the Jesuits from Spain and the confiscation of their properties may be from a political point of view, there can be no doubt that the manner in which the present Government has acted in issuing suddenly a decree, almost brutal in its severity, at a moment of national crisis when the forces of anarchy and revolution are extraordinarily active and evident, has moved profoundly the religious sense and the sense of justice of the Spanish nation.

It would appear that an extreme and revolutionary Government of strong Socialist or Marxian tendencies has found itself faced with the necessity of taking far more repressive measures against the agents of anarchy and revolution, many of them their former friends, than were dreamed of in the wild days of the dictatorship. So, in order to appear what is called "impartial" and to sugar the pill of repression for their followers of the extreme left, they have hastily hit the Jesuits, as representatives of the extreme right, a knock-out blow on the head.

"Contradictory Action." It would seem, from a purely political point of view, and setting aside entirely the religious aspect, that the Government have committed a most contradictory action, for they have destroyed one of the most anti-revolutionary elements in the country at a moment when they are themselves fighting revolution, and have definitely hostilised that very large body of the population of Spain who are professing Christians. At another moment and in a tranquil Spain it would be a logical and an expected action for a Government holding the tenets and doctrine of the present one to expel the Jesuits and to confiscate their goods; for, notwithstanding the hopes and illusion held in some ultra-Protestant circles abroad, the spirit of the present Government appears definitely as one of persecution, and not of freedom of religion.

The Jesuits, or to call them by their own name, the Company of Jesus, have passed through many vicissitudes varying from the height of political influence and power to persecution, since the time of their foundation by papal bull in 1540, when Ignatius de Loyola laid down the rules and organisation of the order.

General Expulsion. In the course of their history they have at some period or other been expelled from almost every country where they have been established, when their power had appeared to exercise too great an influence on the temporal politics of that country or their wealth excited the cupidity of their opponents.

Their history in Spain has shown the same features as in other countries, and in the year 1767, in the reign of Carlos III., the houses of the order were unexpectedly surrounded by troops and their inmates deported, while a decree was promulgated by the King suppressing the order completely in Spain and all her possessions.

This was followed in 1773 by the dissolution of the Society by Pope Clement XIV. Throughout the period of the French Revolution the society ceased to exist as a recognised religious order until a bull of Pope Pius VII. restored it to its functions.

Since then its history of growth of power and subsequent expulsion has continued to repeat itself in many countries and ultimately in Spain by the recent Government decree of dissolution and confiscation.

Influence of the Order. However one may differ from some of the practices and tenets

LIFT UP YOUR HEARTS, FOR THE WORLD IS MOVING ONWARD. IT IS GUIDED FROM ABOVE, AND GUIDED WE MAY BE SURE WITH WISDOM AND GOODNESS WHICH WILL NOT ABANDON US. THAT IS THE COMFORT WHICH EVEN IN BLACKEST DARKNESS MUST AFFORD LIGHT.—Rosebery.

An amended notification states that the Ben Line s.s. Benderan, from Home via Straits and Manila, is due here on Thursday morning.

Mrs. Maurice St. J. Walsh sailed by the s.s. Naidera for Home on Saturday.

Following a meeting of the Overseas League in Singapore, it has been decided to hold a British Shopping Week in Malaya. At the end of the week, May 24, which is Empire Day, it is proposed to hold a ball in conjunction with the Overseas League dinner.

Five men, one armed with a revolver and another with a dagger, forced an entry into 128, Woosung Street, Yumail, during the early hours of yesterday morning, and, after blinding and gagging the inmates, stole property to the value of $125, before decamping.

There were crowded houses at the King's Theatre yesterday when the British film, "Canaries Sometimes Sing," was screened for the first time. One of Frederick Lonsdale's sparkling comedies, it is not worthy for its clever dialogue. The cast consists of only four characters, taken with immense success by Yvonne Arnaud, Cathleen Nesbitt, Tom Walls and Athole Stewart. A film which can be recommended wholeheartedly.

A brilliantly clever denouement, coupled with a wealth of dramatic situation, lifts "Guilty Hands," the Lionel Barrymore film now showing at the Queen's Theatre, well above the average. The film breaks somewhat new ground in that it is not concerned with the elucidation of a murder mystery, but the preparation for and performance of the "perfect murder," ultimately demonstrating that the best-laid plans may go awry, particularly if a clever woman is concerned.

Of Jesuitry, one cannot but acknowledge that it has been a great instrument in the spread of Christianity throughout the world, and in Christian education and its continually renewed spread and power, after a period of persecution, are probably due more than anything else to its educational aspect and its policy of sowing its tenets in the young by means of its schools. At present there are Jesuit schools in almost every town of importance in Spain, which have supplied the greater part of education to the cultured classes and much of that to the lower classes. It is therefore a great blow to those Spanish parents, who desire a Christian education for their children and to the general cause of education, for all those schools to be closed.

This, and the wounding of the deepest religious feelings of all devout Spaniards, are the two most far-reaching of the immediately visible results of the decree expelling the Jesuits from Spain and confiscating their goods, and they have called forth an almost unanimous protest from the Press throughout the country.

What will be the ultimate effect of the decree on the political situation and the education of Spain remains to be seen.

"She's still poorly—but I've ordered a batch of them coloured cruise catalogues that will cheer her up."

BRITISH FILMS.

THROWING AWAY THE PLUMS.

BY A LOCAL FILM CRITIC.

Coming at a time when every form of propaganda is being employed to exploit British films in fields hitherto held almost exclusively by the American productions, the pronouncement by Mr. Tom Walls, the famous English actor-director that he does not regard any attempt to improve on successful stage plays in the way of photography and other forms of technique, as necessary to the talking screen, will be received with mixed feelings by those who are sympathetically interested in the struggle of the British film industry to compete with its American contemporaries.

We are told that this attitude of the director of the famous Aldwych Players' comedies has caused something like a riot in the film industry, but it is hardly to be expected that all the reaction will be confined to the specialists. What is going to be the attitude of film-goers particularly in Hongkong where the clamour for British films is increasing to this attempted strangulation of a growing industry? For it is an endeavour to strangle and to retard the progress of British films.

For several years, America led the way in the film industry to such an extent that competitive productions were nothing but second-rate. In comparison, it was America which after carrying the silent film to a standard of artistry that defied any sort of serious competition, took to its bosom the talking invention, and began seriously to exploit its adaptability and potentialities as a new medium for entertainment. Once again England found herself left behind in a new field of artistic achievement and it was not until quite recently that the British film industry has awakened to the insistent demand for the Home talking picture.

National Sentiment.

People became weary of the hard nasal voices of the American actors, and actresses and a little nauseated by Buck-stage-Al Jolson cum Sonny Boy theme, the feeling among Hongkong "fans" being so intense as to promote newspaper controversy. Elstree, with her sound equipment, came into being as a purveyor of English talkies. Unfortunately, Elstree, either through force of circumstances, or through lack of progressive and intelligent producers, found it necessary to start its industry at a point left behind by America. But thanks to the psychological make-up of the Englishman, this was not discovered, or rather it was tactfully ignored, until some time later, i.e., when even Britishers began to respond to the quality of American productions, and allowed their eyes to be opened to the difference between the English and American film.

Until then, the British talkie existed on national sentiment. "It is so lovely to hear real English voices" was the cry of the English film-goer, which eventually became the slogan of the British producer, and lured him into a sense of false security. And on the strength of an Oxford accent, and a cockney dialect, the British industry sat complacently back and waited for the world at large to write puff paragraphs in the newspapers, and glowing eulogies in the trade magazines, and for theatre managers to vie one with the other in their desperate haste to cancel contracts of American productions.

A Bubble Which Burst.

When none of these anticipations were realised, it was with feelings almost akin to amazement that British producers discovered something more was needed than attractive enunciation if their films were to find their way out of Home ports.

The world at large was then informed that the British film industry was going to assert itself and produce pictures which for technique, artistry, photography and acting, were to be supreme throughout the universe. Even American producers believed it and were astute enough to greet the next batch of English films with an outburst of honeyed phrases which again was sufficient to delude the British industry into a sense of complacency that their work was finished and was well done.

The New Technique.

Then began the era of freak photography, superimposition in place of black-outs, cutting instead of panning, the accentuation of realism at the expense of illusion and false—a technique which seemed to infuse the silver screen with a personality. It was the astonishingly successful exploitation by French, German and American producers of this new technique in Hollywood studios which revealed to what extent the British productions were lacking.

It is astonishing to find the big appeal this has made to Hongkong film-goers. Where before many were content if a picture contained a certain amount of action, a passable plot and good acting, they now look for, and are disappointed if they do not find, the more subtle touches in technical production and direction. As one regular and enthusiastic "fan" was heard to remark a short time ago "Given English players and a Hollywood studio, and you have the perfect talking picture as far as the science has at present advanced."

And to-day we have this technique, (almost futuristic in its expression as with "Quick Millions," which in direction and photography cannot be seriously challenged by any film made to date), brought to a standard which is daily finding favour with the millions who attend cinemas, condemned, or at least ridiculed, by a British director upon whose shoulders lies part of the responsibility of the future success of British films.

An Emotional Camera.

The British industry has still a long way to go before it can confidently compare its productions with those from Hollywood. The actors are there, as America has found to her lasting gain, but acting alone cannot to-day, satisfy the advanced ideas of the film-fan. He has got beyond the stage of requiring to see the players in a taxi bowling along the crowded thoroughfare in order to satisfy himself that they did take a taxi. He needs a variety in photography, something more than the alternate close-up and long shot. He prefers suggestion to heavy emphasis, unusual and unexpected manipulation of the camera to the stereotyped ground shots. The German photographers, through the American producers, have given us an "emotional" camera, and anything which savours of old-fashioned ideas in this direction must detract from the entertaining value of the film, when placed in a comparative sphere.

Different Treatment Required.

It is possible that Mr. Tom Walls had only sensational publicity in mind when he made his illuminating, but rather distressing statement. For the sake of his films it is to be sincerely hoped so, for it is because the screen demands different treatment than a stage production, that the new technique has been introduced.

If the British film industry is to be strangled by refusal to accept the obvious, all the propaganda and publicity in the world will not give it prestige. Film patrons are past the stage of believing all they read and hear about the wonders and super-magnificence of pictures. They are to-day in a position to form their own opinions.

CHINESE VOLUNTARILY GIVE UP KIANGWAN.

WEEK-END DEVELOPMENTS IN SHANGHAI SITUATION.

Shanghai, Feb. 27, 4.50 p.m. It is officially stated at Japanese headquarters that the Japanese casualties in yesterday's fighting were 160 killed and wounded. The Chinese casualties are reported to be much heavier.

All the hospitals are full, and preparations are afoot to accommodate other wounded men in private houses in the French Concession which are now being fitted up.—Our Own Correspondent.

Night Bombing.

Shanghai, Feb. 27, 4.50 p.m. Japanese bombing planes are expected to inaugurate a series of night flights to combat the Chinese manoeuvres behind their lines. The Chinese troops are busy strengthening their second line of defence west of the Commercial Press ruins and Paoshan Road. I learn that the street lights in Western Chapel will be out to-night in order to shield the movements of the trucks and troops between Chenju and Tazung.—Our Own Correspondent.

Kiangwan Given Up.

Shanghai, Feb. 28, 11.31 p.m. Chinese troops no longer hold Kiangwan. After fighting to retain it for more than a week, they have voluntarily relinquished it because of the intolerable conditions within the town. It is stated that the streets are littered with dead civilians killed by the Japanese bombing planes. Chinese officials declare that in the streets alone, 1,600 dead civilians were counted, while the debris of what was once a town undoubtedly covers hundreds more. These bodies have polluted the water supply, and the stench makes it impossible to continue there, while the constant Japanese attacks by artillery and from the air makes it impossible to bury them; and therefore the Chinese have evacuated to a line of entrenchments immediately west of Kiangwan, which the Japanese formally occupied this morning.

There was fighting along this front all afternoon, but the Japanese attacks failed to dislodge the Chinese from their new positions.—Reuter.

Chinese Reinforcements.

Shanghai, Feb. 27, 10.53 p.m. The Japanese are still awaiting the arrival of the main body of reinforcements, namely the Eleventh and Fourteenth Divisions, which it is reported already have reached the mouth of the Yangtze River. One thousand Japanese soldiers, however, landed this evening, these being a fresh draft for Major-General Shimomura's Mixed Brigade operating on the Japanese right wing and the Wusung front. Chinese Headquarters announce that two additional Divisions are arriving from Nanking to reinforce the Nineteenth Route Army.—Reuter.

More Japanese.

Shanghai, Feb. 28, 7.15 p.m. Fifteen hundred men, the advance guards of the Eleventh Division, arrived at Wusung at 5 p.m. aboard a flotilla of destroyers from Japan, and passed Wusung forts under a covering fire and landed at the wharves of the Shanghai-Wusung Railway. They will spend the night at Wusung, being thrown into the Japanese line at Kiangwan early to-morrow morning.

Landed in Settlement.

Shanghai, Feb. 28, 11.31 p.m. The first transport to bring the main body of the Japanese Eleventh Division tied up at the Japanese wharf inside the Settlement at 8.15 p.m., and is now unloading troops. Other transports are expected to come up-river to-morrow morning.—Reuter.

An Order to Pilots.

Shanghai, Feb. 27, 5.24 p.m. Mr. E. M. Green, Acting Harbour Master, under date of the 26th inst., advised the Manager of the Shanghai Licensed Pilots' Association "that the Chinese Government deems it inconsistent that pilots holding licences issued by the Government should pilot foreign men of war engaged in action hostile to the Government, and accordingly request you to inform the members of the Shanghai Licensed Pilots' Association that any pilot continuing to pilot such men of war renders himself liable to have his licence cancelled."

Mr. George Philip replied on the same date stating that the letter will be shown to each pilot on his reporting at the pilot station. I learn that members of the Pilots' Association do not acquiesce to the intimation sent from the Chinese Maritime Customs.

The Japanese authorities, informed by Mr. Philip of the intimation received, have requested him to function as usual, stating that if the Chinese authorities persist in their present attitude they will blockade the Whangpoo River at Wusung for all Chinese vessels.—Our Own Correspondent.

Hungjao Destruction.

Shanghai, Feb. 28, 11.23 p.m. The Japanese again to-day bombed Hungjao aerodrome, outside the western limits of the Settlement, completing the destruction of the hangars and ploughing up the landing field, making it almost impossible now to land a plane there. It was this aerodrome that was used by Mrs. Victor Bruce, Baroness von Haeckel, Brock and Snee, and other famous round-the-world aviators, when calling at Shanghai.—Reuter.

Truce Likely.

Washington, Feb. 27, 10.36 p.m. The Chinese and Japanese forces in Shanghai are showing signs of weariness in the opinion of American military experts here, and consequently it is thought that proposals for a truce might soon be received sympathetically.—Reuter's American Service.

The League Meeting.

Geneva, Feb. 28. With the approach of the extraordinary session of the League Assembly, the League secretariat and delegations are very active. Many opinions are current in the lobbies regarding the outcome. There is no fixed idea as to what the Assembly will decide, though some delegations are of opinion that as the object of the League is the re-establishment of peace, the Assembly may decide to entrust the task to the Powers mostly interested in the Far East. Others are of opinion that the only course open to the Assembly is to apply the provisions of the League Covenant.

It is also suggested to convene a conference of signatories of the Nine Power Treaty and leave it to them to dispose of the difficulty, though this course is regarded as unlikely, as being tantamount to abdication of the Assembly's rights under the Covenant.

As regards procedure, the morning's sitting will be devoted to the election of a president, probably M. Hymans. The Chinese and Japanese will present their cases in the afternoon. At the conclusion of a general debate, the Assembly will appoint a committee, after which the Assembly will decide the form of its resolution.

The proceedings are expected to last ten days. It is uncertain whether the disarmament committee will continue simultaneously, as many delegates will be occupied at the Assembly.—Reuter.

Japan's Offer.

Tokyo, Feb. 28, 3.58 a.m. It is understood that the Foreign Office has instructed Mr. Shigemitsu, the Japanese Minister in Shanghai, and Mr. Matsudaira in Geneva, to make known at the suitable time and to the suitable authorities Japan's readiness to halt the Shanghai hostilities whenever the Chinese convincingly prove their willingness to withdraw leaving a twenty kilometre zone.

Japan will then undertake to withdraw her troops likewise "a certain distance" when the Chinese troops have actually evacuated.—Reuter.

Press Comment.

London, Feb. 28. The Observer, in an editorial, says that it is plain that ever that direct Sino-Japanese negotiation is the straight means towards a settlement in the Far East, and that the Powers, without committing themselves, should encourage it. "Keep out" is the irrevocable determination of the British people, for we would have everything to lose.

The lessons of the Far Eastern tragedy are fourfold:

First, if Japan ignores restraining wisdom altogether she will pay for it one day, although not now.

Second, the way to prevent war is to deal in advance with the causes plainly tending to its outbreak.

Third, this cannot be done without some kind of regular co-operation instead of intermittent contact between America and the League, and

Lastly, to advocate both disarmament and sanctions in the one breath is about the climax of human absurdity.—Reuter.

U.S. Cabinet Divided.

Washington, Feb. 28. The Cabinet is divided on the question of economic pressure on Japan and will therefore withhold

A WEDDING INSTEAD OF 'GOOD-BYE.'

GIRL WHO CHANGED HER PLANS.

Nairobi, Feb. 3. The marriage between the Hon. Averill Furness, the 23-year-old daughter of Viscount Furness, and Mr. Andrew Rattray, her father's white hunter, it was revealed to-day, was only decided upon the previous evening, when they were having dinner together at a local hotel.

Mr. Rattray told Reuter's Correspondent that the reason Lord Furness, who was away on Safari, was not aware of the marriage was that he and Miss Furness themselves had not thought of it till the day before.

They had fallen in love with each other during the recent Safari but had not thought of marriage until Miss Furness returned to Nairobi last Thursday with the object of going to England by the liner Cressi, which sailed on Monday.

A Sudden Decision.

The couple dined together that night and Miss Furness suddenly decided that she did not want to say good-bye and that she would rather remain in the country, of which she had become very fond. They were therefore married the next day.

Both seemed highly amused at the publicity which the marriage had had in England and said that they had little to add to the announcement that "we are married, and I that's that."

His Dismissal.

Mr. Rattray also declined to refer to the action of Lord Furness in announcing in the East African Standard that Mr. Rattray was no longer in his service. He said that he did not know the reason for his dismissal, which would in any case not affect him, as he would carry on his work as a white hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Rattray intend to stay in the country for some time and to go on another Safari themselves as a honeymoon.

They stated that they had already received cables of congratulation from Lady Furness, the bride's stepmother, and a host of other friends in England.

Its decision pending a definite action by the League of Nations, according to usually well informed sources.

It is understood that Mr. Stimson is urging that the United States should decide in advance whether it would join in the economic sanctions against Japan, and that the decision should be communicated privately to the League in advance.

On the other hand the boycott is opposed by the Secretary of the Navy and the Secretary of War on the ground that such action would probably lead to hostilities.

Mr. Hoover, it is understood, is of the opinion that no decision should be taken at the present time, which proposition it is believed will be adopted. The situation thus appears to resemble the historic comedy of Sir Richard Stratton and Earl Chatham with Mr. Stimson "longing to be at 'em" and standing waiting for the League and vice versa.—Reuter's American Service.

"Most Encouraging."

London, Feb. 27. "A most encouraging event" was the comment of Lord Cecil on the letter published in the Times by Viscount Ishii and others.

Lord Cecil was addressing a meeting of the League of Nations on the situation in China. He declared that he was sure that if Viscount Ishii had been in control of Japan's policy during the last four or five months there would be a very different situation to-day.

If Japan made a determined effort to end the fighting and showed herself amenable to the suggestion of those who were not her ill-wishers, but determined advocates of the maintenance of peace by collective action, he was quite sure we should see that had chapter of history closed; but Japan, from February 2, had been acting on the offensive, and he was forced to conclude that the entirely military sections were now conducting Japanese policy.

He stressed the need of a definite policy on the part of Britain, which might either be a solemn repudiation of Japan's action or a formal demand on the part of the League for an armistice and the establishment of a neutral zone to be occupied by neutral troops.

Whatever was done, he concluded, must be done by the League of Nations co-operating with the United States.—Reuter.

£2,000 FOR THE MAID IN AN ATTIC.

INTERVIEW WITH MISS TURNER.

London, Feb. 5. By settlement, arrived at yesterday, Miss Sarah Laura Turner (the maid-servant who claimed she was imprisoned for 13 years by her former mistress, Miss Emma Torr Smith, of Oak Lawn, Beulah Hill, Upper Norwood), is to receive £2,000 and £500 costs.

Miss Turner had claimed damages in the King's Bench Division for alleged false imprisonment and reasonable remuneration for her services between July, 1916, and November, 1929.

The £2,000 is to be invested for her.

At present she is employed as a domestic help in the home of one of the people who have befriended her.

"It has been an awful ordeal," she told a New-Chronicle representative last night. "I want to forget all about it. For 13 years I have been out of the world. Is it any wonder that I still feel dazed and lost?"

"Everything seems so strange. Your world is not my world. I have never been to a theatre or a cinema. I did not know what wireless was when I first heard it recently."

"What do I do now apart from work? I read. I love literature, and particularly poetry. I learned a lot of verse as a child, and during the past 13 years, when I had nothing to read and nothing to occupy my time, I used to repeat it over and over again to myself."

Asked what were her plans, she replied, "To forget."

It was two years ago, following an illness, that Miss Turner finally found herself away from Oak Lawn.

Alone, and dazed by the world, she went to the Rev. H. E. Sexton, vicar of All Saints, Upper Norwood. The vicar listened to her story in amazement, made inquiries and took up her case.

He found her work as a domestic help and investigated the legal side of her case.

AN EXTRADITION CASE.

ECHO OF JUNK SEIZURE TWO YEARS AGO.

Extradition proceedings were commenced at the Central Magistrate's court this morning for the surrender to the Cantonese authorities of a fugitive, Leung Cheung, who is alleged to have been implicated in a serious affair two years ago, when a junk was seized by pirates in Chinese waters near Canton.

The charges include armed robbery, piracy, kidnapping and attempting to destroy and sink the craft. In view of the gravity of the allegations, Mr. Schofield refused an application for bail made by Mr. Hin-shing Lo on behalf of the accused. His Worship provisionally remanded the accused until Thursday morning.

Mr. T. Murphy, A.S.P., indicated that Mr. R. E. Lindell would be appearing for the Crown.

THE B.B.C. THE L.C.C. AND L.S.D.

A dispute has arisen between the British Broadcasting Corporation and the London County Council.

Briefly, the cause of the trouble may be summed up as follows: The B.B.C.:

"When L.C.C. employees broadcast as private individuals, we pay them the fee, but when they broadcast in their official capacity, we have to pay you the fee. Now, we suggest that when L.C.C. employees broadcast in their official capacity, no fee be paid."

The L.C.C. says:

"If our staff render official service, we must be paid."

"But," says the B.B.C., "a guinea or so to the L.C.C. means nothing."

"An argument over a guinea or two is parimony in the B.B.C.," replies the L.C.C.

"No," replies the B.B.C. "It is merely economy."

Now the L.C.C. decline to continue the argument.

The following wedding is announced to take place at Bangkok shortly:—Mr. Frederick Henry Cooke, of the Bangkok Dock Company, to Miss Winifred Violet Franklin, of the Diocesan Girls' School, Hongkong.

A series of police raids in various parts of the Yau-mat District last night and this morning resulted in a number of Chinese being arrested and detained in connexion with armed robberies which have been committed during the past couple of months. In some cases the police found the men in possession of arms. All those taken into custody will subsequently be paraded for identification by victims in recent outrages.

DRESS "PIRATES."

HEAVY DAMAGES IN PARIS.

Paris, Feb. 1. Damages amounting to just under £2,000 at par have been awarded against two American women, Mrs. Ida Helen Oliver, of Chicago, and Mrs. Caroline Davis, of New Orleans, for copying the models of well-known Paris dressmakers. The two "pirates" have also been ordered to pay fines of £16 and £4 sterling respectively.

The discovery of their operations was made in August, 1930. It had been known for some time by the big couturiers that there had been a leakage of their previously guarded secrets. As a result of information obtained by the police a descent was made on Mrs. Oliver's house in Paris where a large number of sketches of the latest designs were seen. Similar finds were made in a shop rented by Mrs. Davis.

Sketches. In the course of the trial it was stated that the sketches were bought by the defendants for ten francs and sold by them in New York for six dollars apiece. It was alleged that Mrs. Davis made an income of about £4,000 a year out of this trade.

The women, pleaded that as they had bought the sketches from French copyists there was no dishonesty on their part. They are considered to have got off lightly as the Paris dressmakers have been on the warpath on this subject for years, and hoped to get the "pirates" expelled.

The prejudice to the dress-trade resulting from the system of copying is considerable. The flourishing existence of the system is, largely a consequence, of course, of the enormous prices asked for the originals. Since the crisis the rare client prepared to

SOCCER CUP FINAL.

SCOTLAND'S TEAM TO MEET PORTUGAL.

The following have been selected to represent Scotland against Portugal in the final of the Sunday Herald Charity Cup on the Hongkong Football Club ground on Saturday, March 5th, kick-off at 4 p.m. sharp:—Rodger, Blackburn, Dixon, McGlathlin, McKelvie, A. ### BROKEN GLASS CONCRETE.

COLOUR IN £300,000 COACH STATION.

Cement and coloured glass combined make a concrete which scintillates with innumerable hues on the base of the central tower of the largest motor-coach station in the world.

This is the new station being built at Victoria, London, to serve nearly 2,500 coaches a day.

Instead of sand and Thames ballast the white Portland cement is mixed with broken

Beer bottles, Glass lampshades, Window panes, Poison bottles. All this gives strength and lustre to the concrete.

One of the wonders of the station is the "chart room," where officials, with maps of routes spread in front of them, will control by telephone the fleet of hundreds of coaches travelling from all parts of the country.

A Dance Floor.

There will be buffets, a cafeteria, a restaurant with a dance floor, a canteen and restaurant for drivers, booking halls and shops.

About 80 coaches will be parked and loaded at the station at one time, and a huge glass roof will protect a large area of the loading bays from bad weather.

When completed next month the building, which is for London Constal Coaches, Limited, will have cost nearly £300,000, including the site, and will serve about 9,000,000 people each year.

HOW DIVER SAW
BRIGHTER LAMP.

Portland, Feb. 4.
Did the M 2 dive too deeply when she was exercising off Portland?

The divers who found her nearly six miles W.N.W. of the Bill discovered that she was lying with her bows in the sand and her stern slightly tilted.

The M 2 rests among the skeletons of ships that strewn the bottom of West Bay. The story of how she was found was told today.

Yesterday afternoon H.M.S. Thruster saw oil bubbles coming to the surface in Portland Race and lowered a small boat to make a closer investigation. Dunderk and Dunoon, two minisweepers, set out to sea and linked their sweeps together.

Diver's Struggle.

From H.M.S. Tidworth a diver descended, and at 8 p.m. reported that by the light of his lamp, which has a radius of 600, he had seen a wreck with fresh paint.

Signals flashed ashore and a 20,000 candle power submarine lamp was rushed out to Portland Race.

Once again the diver climbed down the ladder and vanished under water off the rugged headland of Portland Bill.

By the light of the powerful lamp, the day of which could be seen by those on the surface, the diver was able to see objects over an area of 15 square feet. In his heavy leaded boots he fought the current that threatened to sweep him away.

On the conning tower he read "M 2." At last the submarine had been found and the diver signalled to be pulled to the surface.

The M 2 lies close to another tomb—the steel hull of a German U boat. Side by side lie the German sailors who died during the war, and our men of a later generation. On the other side of the M 2 is the skeleton of a British "Q" ship.

Other divers, who descended tonight, had been able to walk beneath the part of the hull above the sea bed.

A Black Flag.

A little black flag tossed buoyantly over the spot. The M 2 lies in 18 fathoms which is a little over 100 feet.

NEW EARL'S PATENT
MISLAID.DELAY IN TAKING
SEAT IN LORDS.

The new Earl Russell, known throughout the world as plain Bertrand Russell, writer on philosophy, subjects experts to take his seat in the House of Lords some time next month.

When the Hon. Bertrand Russell became heir-presumptive early last year there was speculation as to whether he would exercise his right to sit in the House of Lords.

One of the reasons for the delay was that the original patent held by the late Earl was mislaid. A new patent must be obtained or a certified copy, to the House before being allowed to take his seat.

"The patent is not lost," said Earl Russell. "But it was left among the late Earl's papers, and they have not yet all been got through."

Asked if he was likely to devote himself very largely to political questions in the House of Lords, he replied:

"I do not think I shall take a very active part. I shall continue to use my pen, as I prefer it to political speaking."

At the House of Lords it was explained that it was by no means unusual for an original Patent to get mislaid or lost. Copies are obtained from the Patent Roll at the Record Office.

KIDNAPPED.NIGHT EPISODE IN BERLIN SQUARE.

Berlin, Feb. 4.
A man walking at night with two women across the Alexanderplatz, the well-known central square of Berlin's East End, was suddenly shot down; the woman fled and the victim was carried off by two men who had been hiding in the darkness of a nearby doorway. No trace of any of the persons concerned has so far been discovered.

These facts, which have only today been made public, were told to the police on Friday night by a taxi-driver who drove up just after the victim of the crime had collapsed in the road. The driver and his fare were beginning to offer assistance when two rough-looking individuals warned them to clear out quickly.

Two other people who heard the shots and were likewise threatened when they tried to interfere have made corroborating statements to the Berlin police, whose headquarters is only about 200 yards from the site of the crime.

The man who has thus mysteriously disappeared is known to have been middle-aged and of prosperous appearance. The two women in his company are stated to have made his acquaintance earlier in the evening in a restaurant of doubtful repute, and there appears to be reason to suspect that they lured him into a trap.

The police have searched all the houses and yards in the vicinity of the square, but although the crime occurred nearly a week ago nothing more has been heard or seen of the injured, or possibly dead, man.

MEN'S CLAIM.POSTAGE STAMP
"TAXATION."

The Postmaster-General Sir Kingsley Wood, on Feb. 5, received another deputation from the Union of Post Office Workers, which claims an all round increase of 10s. a week in the basic pay of the grades it represents.

The conference lasted two hours. According to an official statement issued Sir Kingsley reminded the deputation that the Post Office staff had no sacrifice imposed on them beyond that which automatically followed from the operation of the cost-of-living agreement, to which the union were a party.

In addition, they had security and advantages in such matters as pension and sick pay.

It was pointed out, too, that the position of the Post Office staff would come under review in discussions between the staff side of the Whitley Council and the Treasury, in common with the rest of the Civil Service.

ATTACKED.ATTEMPTED MURDER
IN DARK ROOM.

Oso, Feb. 4.
An extraordinary attack on the Norwegian Minister of Defence in his office here has just been revealed.

The police state that the Minister, Major Quisling, went into an unlighted room on Tuesday to fetch some documents when someone sprang out, threw pepper into his face and tried to kill him with a knife. Major Quisling struggled and the noise brought some officials to the spot.

Major Quisling received minor injuries. It was at first believed that robbery was the motive but it is now stated that the safe in the office was untouched and nothing was interfered with. The outrage is ascribed to Communists.

Major Quisling served as a military attaché in Russia at the outbreak of the Revolution. The Communists have accused him of many crimes, including that of being a British spy in Russia.

BRITISH DUKE SELLS HIS CROWN.

London, Feb. 28.
One of the most astonishing sidelights on Britain's rush to sell gold occurred when a Duke, whose name naturally is withheld, walked into the shop of a Bond Street jeweller carrying a coronet under his arm.

Four hours later he received a cheque for £15,000.

The coronet, which was set with many precious stones, was over a century old. Its owners have held it for generations in Britain for five centuries, and the present Duke and his forebears have worn the coronet at Royal coronations since the days of the Georges.

CINEMA SCREENINGS.

THEATRES.

One of the most amusing incidents in "Canaries Sometimes Sing" showing at the King's Theatre today, the film adaptation of Frederick Lonsdale's witty comedy is when Tom Walls in the role of a playwright anxious to get rid of his highbrow wife, talks it over with his friend, who is in love with her. They talk it over a bottle of brandy for company and both get very inebriated. Tom Walls must have practised being drunk for weeks prior to the final take for his expression of benign madness, the peculiar thickness in his speech and the eventual self-pitying stage that he reaches is perfectly done. In fact, we wonder if something other than cultured water was utilised.

"Once A Lady."
The only difficult phase of this story to believe, is that it actually was not circulated by a California Chamber of Commerce, nor any other organization having to do with the painting of West Coast sunset and climate in rosiest hues.

It emanates from an authoritative Paramount bulletin, compiled in the course of filming "Once A Lady," nearest stellar vehicle for Ruth Chatterton, and has to do with the strange case of a native pony killed at the approach of fog.

Fogs, English fogs at any rate, it seems are strange in California; at least at certain hours.

In the course of the action, which will be on view at the King's Theatre next Thursday, Miss Chatterton is called upon to ride in a quaint English pony cart, through a fog to keep a secret rendezvous with the father of her unborn child.

The setting, a bit of old England reminiscent of the studio, was considered perfect. The fog rolled in on schedule. Director Guthrie McElroy called "Camera," and Miss Chatterton started on her first pony cart ride since childhood.

But the picture makers had not reckoned with "foots," temperamental California ponies, who had never been called upon to act in a fog. The one that Miss Chatterton rode, a synthetic weather and a fabled to huddle.

The director finally resorted to the time-honoured expedient of having an aide attach a bunch of alfalfa to a pole and suspend it in front of the "foots," just out of camera range. The horse temporarily forgot the fog and followed the bait while the scene was being filmed.

"Tollable David."
Polignantly beautiful, the all talking version of Joseph Hergesheimer's famous story "Tollable David," produced by Columbia Pictures made an auspicious bow to local audiences Saturday night at the Central Theatre. As the various thrilling episodes of the picture flashed into view, a noticeable appreciation was sensed through the audience.

The story of "Tollable David" is a simple one of a mountaineer's feud between two families. The worthless Huthorns have maimed the eldest son of the Kinemon household and indirectly caused the death of Hunter Kinemon, head of the house, as a result of the excitement over his boy's cruel injury.

No one is left to avenge the unfortunate Kinemons but David, the youngest son—just a "tollable" lad. The fact that David is in love with the treacherous, greedy, which makes so much havoc in the Kinemon household, makes things just so much more difficult all around.

Tragedy and the responsibility of providing for his people causes transformation in David. Circumstances enable him to avenge himself upon those dastardly cowards who have wrecked his home. Either he comes his bride and he comes into man's estate with a happy future and a clear conscience no longer made of an unfulfilled feud.

Richard Cromwell, the unknown who plays the title role is a "find" who possesses all the characteristics required by his role—brave, charming, physical handsomeness and a rugged character. The supporting cast is a distinguished one. Joan Peers plays the feminine lead opposite the star. Booth Horry, a difficult character role, Edmund Breese, the father of the Kinemon household, Helen Ware, his wife and George Duryan, his eldest son. Others in the cast include Henry B. Walthall, Harlan E. Knight and Peter Richmond, John Blystone directed.

BLOW TO AUSTRALIA'S PRESTIGE.

Melbourne, Feb. 3.
The Federal Cabinet is determined to settle "Langism," but finds the procedure difficult and slow.

The Commonwealth's writ, issued to-day, claims repayment of moneys received, also an account of moneys due and costs. If judgment is given and Mr. Lang, the Premier of New South Wales, defaults against the order made he can, under High Court rules be sent to gaol for contempt until the liability is liquidated. Mr. Lang has also advised that loans for public works may legally be stopped to New South Wales.

The Melbourne Herald is insistent that Sir Philip Game, Governor of New South Wales, should dismiss Mr. Lang as the quickest way out, but the Governor so far remains silent.

Senator Sir Hal Colebatch, one of the ablest Governmental authorities, writes in the Argus that the default has damaged Australia's prestige. A better procedure would have been to make payment first and then to take action against Mr. Lang.

He also emphasises that the States have equal rights with the Commonwealth to demand lessened expenditure, and Mr. Lyons the Commonwealth Premier, should take steps to abolish the Federal Savings Banks, Public Works, Health, Forestry, and Markets Departments as duplicating State activities, and also evacuate the land tax and other taxation fields.

HOME FOOTBALL.

RESULTS OF SATURDAY'S MATCHES.

London, Feb. 27.
Saturday's Home football matches resulted as follows:
OVER 100,000 spectators watched the two outstanding Cup matches on Saturday and in the stampedes which resulted from the entrance to an endeavour to secure admission to the grounds, nearly two hundred persons were injured, six being removed to hospital from Leeds Road.

In the stampedes among the spectators, who crowded the Leeds Road ground (where Huddersfield had the Arsenal as their visitors in the Sixth Round of the English Football Cup), 150 people were injured of whom six were taken to hospital for treatment, two being detained in the crowd who threatened the police. The match attracted a record crowd of approximately 67,000 spectators paying for admission. H. Roberts, who only scored one goal for the Arsenal in League matches last season, gave the London club their only goal against Huddersfield within the first minute of the commencement of play.

There was an attendance of 55,000 spectators at Anfield Road, where Liverpool, the conquerors of Everton, went down to Chelsea by two clear goals. Here also many of the spectators were hurt. H. Gallacher, the leading scorer of the team, gave the visitors the lead, whilst G. Pearson put them further ahead.

At St. James' Park Newcastle trounced Watford, the only Third Division team to enter the Sixth Round, by five clear goals, three of which were scored by J. R. Bird.

T. Kettleby, the centre forward and leading goal scorer of Notts County, had to be carried off the field at High Road, suffering from a fractured shoulder sustained in his match against Tottenham Hotspur. Other than these, the results were:

CLEARED UP.LIGHT ON THE MIDDLE AGES OF MAN.

The mysterious ossuary at Hythe, in Kent, has at last given up its secret.

For generations past, archaeologists, doctors, and historians have been puzzled by an extraordinary collection of human bones stacked in the ambulatory at Hythe Parish Church. The collection consists of about 1,200 skulls and 8,000 thigh bones.

Now the mystery of whom they belonged to and how they came there has been cleared up.

Professor F. G. Parsons, lecturer in Anatomy at St. Thomas' Hospital, London, has carried out an examination of these gruesome relics, and his findings are reported in a history of the church, which has been written by the Rev. H. D. Dale, a former vicar of Hythe.

Professor Parsons examined about 600 of the skulls, and was able to determine the age and sex of each skull, together with many details concerning the death, the disease, and the physique of the man or woman concerned.

One of the first facts established was that the bones had not, as has been supposed by some, been collected from a battlefield. The skulls of women and children were about as numerous as those of men, and it is hardly likely that the remains of combatants would be indiscriminately mixed.

Pieces of Pottery.

Some odd bits of pottery found with the bones suggest that they belonged to people who lived five or six hundred years ago, and traces of earth and food fibre on some of the bones showed that most of the bodies had been buried in coffins in an ordinary burial ground.

These facts have led to the belief that the bodies were buried in Hythe churchyard, and that at some later date they were removed to make room for fresh graves.

Professor Parsons' researches have cast some interesting light on life in the later Middle Ages. Few of the skulls, it appears, bore traces of injuries received during life, and Professor Parsons suggests that such dents as are to be found have been caused by the clumsiness of grave-diggers. Some skulls bore traces of wounds which have healed, and some of the thigh bones have been broken and well set. These discoveries indicate that life in the Middle Ages was not so dangerous as it has been painted, and may cause some historians to revise their opinion of the skill of the medieval surgeon.

The size of the bones confirms the belief generally held that our forefathers were a smaller race

WOMAN DRIVER
ARRESTED.ON A CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Mrs. Honoria Irene Sheppard, of Taverland, Bagshot, Surrey, was arrested on the corner's warrant on a charge of manslaughter at the close of an inquest at Kingston.

Mrs. Sheppard was allowed bail in £50. The jury's verdict was that she was guilty of criminal negligence in the driving of her motor-car, which knocked down and killed Mrs. Annie Hodson, aged 83, of King's-road, Kingston, at the junction of Richmond-road and King's road.

It was contended that the accident was due to Mrs. Sheppard's attention being attracted by a trolley bus coming out of King's-road and that she was not looking at the road in front.

Mrs. Sheppard said that something had fallen into the bonnet of her car "like an apparition." She did not know it was a body, as she felt no shock. She was not looking at the trolley bus, and she did not see Mrs. Hodson at all.

PLEA FOR YOUNGER CABINET."A THIRD SHOULD BE UNDER 40."

At least a third of the members of the Cabinet should be under the age of 40, instead of an average of 57, as he day, urged Professor J. S. Haldane in a broadcast speech on science and civilization.

"Not only our politics, but our industry is controlled by old men," he said. "The average age of the directors of a number of representative companies is 62. Neither capitalism nor any other economic system can keep abreast of the times under such guidance."

"An electorate which thought in terms of human biology would see that at least a third of the Cabinet were under forty and not more than a third over 60."

Measures should be taken, he said, to transfer the control of industry to younger men, whether its ownership was public or private.

"You cannot expect old men to deal with the present world-situation. The Universities of Cambridge and Oxford are often supposed to be backward and reactionary, but they have just agreed to a rule by which Professors must retire at 65, not because their intellects have decayed, but because with rare exceptions they cannot keep pace with the rapid increase of knowledge."

then argued that it has been calculated that the average height of the men was 5ft. 5in., and of the women 5ft. 1in., roughly three inches less than the modern average.

PARSON POET WHO WAS A FLIRT.HIS SNUFF, OPIUM, AND WOMEN FRIENDS.

George Crabbe, the parson poet of Trowbridge, Wiltshire. Indulged in snuff and opium, and was a "terrible flirt," but married and lived happily ever after.

These revelations were made at Trowbridge Town Hall when Mr. John Musfield, the poet laureate, and Dean Inge took part in the centenary celebration, which was attended by a great-granddaughter and other descendants of the poet.

Mr. Musfield sat in the old armchair in which Crabbe wrote his poems, and Dean Inge, preached from the pulpit of Crabbe's little spire-tapering church.

Miss Amy Rean recited some of Crabbe's poems, and as she spoke the him of the traffic outside seemed to fade, and her listeners saw the old-world village street and the casket of a vanished day shining the bells, and the "lads" who "showed her virtue by her scorn of vice," and the parrot that spoke words which tinged its owner's cheeks.

Solid—Precise.

"Crabbe," said Mr. Musfield, "was a solid, precise and rather stubborn person with a powerful solidly-made head and an expression of great goodness and kindness of heart."

"He was a conscientious, industrious man, abstemious in a society fond of drink and having only two indulgences, snuff, which he used immoderately, and opium, which he had used without increasing his dose."

"There are two remarkable poems, evidently written under the influence of opium. He was brought up in a little seaport town in the midst of a drunken and smuggling society; in a desolate landscape."

Dean Inge referred to Crabbe as "George" as though he were an old friend, and revealed that "George" always liked women and children and was "a terrible flirt." An old source of that day said, "Dumme, the first time Crabbe dined at my house he made love to my sister."

Crabbe himself wrote, "I have, though at considerable distances, six female friends unknown to each other, but all very dear to me."

The Dean commented: "There is safety, no doubt, in numbers," and laughingly pointed out that the poet Cowper put into difficult though "having two female friends who lived too close to mother."

At eighteen, Crabbe fell in love with a girl as poor as himself, married, and, unlike many great poets, lived happily ever after. Five of his seven children died.
